

Direct- Detection LADAR Systems

Direct-detection LADAR systems provide favorable use of the laser wavelength, and are relatively inexpensive. Range targets under the highest electro-optical energy efficiency conditions are limited by the wavelength of the illuminating signal.

When illuminated with longer-wavelength radiation, the range to the target that can be observed also decreases. At the longest wavelengths, the range to the target that can be observed is limited by the target viewing angle changes. As the wavelength of the laser signal increases, the range to the target also decreases.
