New Approaches in Translation Process Research Susanne Göpferich, Fabio Alves, Inger M. Mees, 2009 The Copenhagen Studies in Language Series includes studies of language for general purposes and also language for special purposes LSP It covers grammar semantics pragmatics text linguistics and translation both from theoretical and applied perspectives It is editorial policy to bring out the journal in the form of a series of thematic volumes Although produced from the Copenhagen Business School the journal welcomes contributions from linguists based at other institutions either in Denmark or the wider world This volume brings together five papers presented at the 1st International Research Workshop Methodology in Translation Process Research held from April 6 to 8 2009 at the University of Graz Austria The first three articles provide insights into the methods employed in the TransComp project at the University of Graz and discuss some of the findings this longitudinal study has yielded so far The fourth presents results from another longitudinal study the CTP project Capturing Translation Processes conducted at Zurich University of Applied Sciences The collection concludes with a contribution which bridges methodology in translation and interpreting process research

Reembedding Translation Process Research Ricardo Muñoz Martín, 2016-10-03 Reembedding Translation Process Research is a rich collection of empirical research papers investigating important new facets of the relationship between translation and cognition The common thread running through the collection is the notion of re embedding the acts of translating and interpreting and the ways we understand them That is they all aim to re situate these acts within what we now know about the brain the powerful relationship of brain and body and the complex interaction between cognition and the environment in which it is embedded Each chapter focuses on a particular aspect of the overall notion of re embedding thereby expanding the breadth of empirical research about translating This book refuses Descartes distinction between mind and brain and reaffirms the highly dynamic emergent and interactive nature of cognitive processes in translation The overarching conclusion is that translation studies should reconsider re embed any model of translation processes that arises without properly accommodating the interdependence of brain body and environment in the emergence of cognition
