analysis driven purchasing decisions Strategic Management - New Rules for Old Europe Christian Scholz, Joachim Zentes, 2007-11-05 Perhaps it was not really meant the way it was said but when Donald Rumsfeld used the term Old Europe in his famous speech of January 22 2003 he coined a phrase to depict not the birthplace of modern society but a graveyard of old and outdated ideas Even though it is legitimate for many of us in Europe to oppose the underlying message of going to war in Iraq it makes absolute sense to examine the rules of the game which Europe is currently playing and which it will play in the future In doing so it becomes obvious that important changes are taking place Strategic Management New Rules for Old Europe makes the hidden rules governing strategic management in Europe transparent The book follows a from to logic and takes the reader along the course of changing conditions and contingencies Europe has not only witnessed major transformations such as the dramatic fall of the Iron Curtain economic and monetary integration and the incorporation of new member states Fundamental change can also be perceived with respect to the corporate responses to these ongoing dynamic changes Strategic Management New Rules for Old Europe is divided into four parts Each of these consists of several contributions starting with the focus on people then on culture then on systems Supply Chain Management, 2010

Strategic Sourcing Ellen Marie Pint, Laura H. Baldwin, 1997 This report originally prepared as an annotated briefing discusses the recommendations of the economics and business management literatures on issues related to outsourcing It is found that organizations should outsource those activities that can be most effectively managed externally so that senior managers can devote their attention to activities best managed internally The economics literature emphasizes that activities involving transaction specific assets should be managed internally whereas the business management literature recommends that organizations retain internal control of their core competencies Organizations can often gain access to superior performance at equal or lower cost by outsourcing other activities Therefore it seems prudent for the Air Force to focus its outsourcing efforts on activities that are neither core competencies nor involve great asset specificity although the business management literature suggests that the Air Force could outsource activities that do involve asset specificity such as the provision of complex services if it develops longer term partnerships with suppliers rather than treating them as arm s length vendors Also past performance information could be used to advantage in outsourcing to develop longer term relationships and encourage transaction specific investments
