

BLOOD SPATTER

THE CASE OF THE MISSING WIFE

a blood spatter investigation activity

GOAL: To use blood spatter patterns analysis to determine the height from which a blood sample was dropped.

BASE: In May, 2007, police received a 911 call from a Travis Paul Lechardt who stated that his wife had been missing for several days, disappearing without a trace.

Over a few investigations that searched the Lechardt home looking for any clues that might lead to the wife. After searching for several months, police noticed that the garage had been recently painted and there appeared to be small shot gun pellets in the ceiling and ceiling in the freshly painted garage floor. When asked about the stains, the Lechardt stated that he was in a problem with squirrels nesting in his garage and the blood stains and shot gun pellets were attempts to eradicate the squirrels.

Initially, DNA was not able to be extracted from the stains since they had been painted, so the police must use blood stain analysis to determine if the blood stains were from squirrels that he shot in the rafters of his garage or if the stains could have something to do with his wife's murder.

The police measured the distance from the garage floor to the rafters above and calculated that the height from which the blood pellets fell was approximately 15 ft. Below is a model that shows the relationship between the size of a blood drop and the height from which it was dropped. Use this guide to help to solve this case.

Letter	Drop Diameter	Height (ft.)
B	3 ft.
C	4 ft.
D	5 ft.
E	5.5 ft.
F	6.5 ft.
G	7 ft.
H	9 ft.
I	12 ft.
J	15 ft.

Use this evidence to determine the height from which the blood stains fell.
