Classroom Assessment Grading That Work:

Classroom Assessment & Grading that Work Robert J. Marzano, 2006 Robert J Marzano distills 35 years of research to bring you expert advice on the best practices for assessing and grading the work done by today's students What We Know About Grading Thomas R. Guskey, Susan M. Brookhart, 2019-02-04 Grading is one of the most hotly debated topics in education and grading practices themselves are largely based on tradition instinct or personal history or philosophy But to be effective grading policies and practices must be based on trustworthy research evidence Enter this book a review of 100 plus years of grading research that presents the broadest and most comprehensive summary of research on grading and reporting available to date with clear takeaways for learning and teaching Edited by Thomas R Guskey and Susan M Brookhart this indispensable guide features thoughtful thorough dives into the research from a distinguished team of scholars geared to a broad range of stakeholders including teachers school leaders policymakers and researchers Each chapter addresses a different area of grading research and describes how the major findings in that area might be leveraged to improve grading policy and practice Ultimately Guskey and Brookhart identify four themes emerging from the research that can guide these efforts Start with clear learning goals Focus on the feedback function of grades Limit the number of grade categories and Provide multiple grades that reflect product process and progress criteria By distilling the vast body of research evidence into meaningful actionable findings and strategies this book is the jump start all stakeholders need to build a better understanding of what works and where to go from here Assessment and Grading in Classrooms Susan M. Brookhart, Anthony J. Nitko, 2008 Assessment and Grading in Classrooms is particularly geared to the needs of classroom teachers emphasizing sound approaches to gathering both formative and summative information about student achievement of classroom learning targets interpreting standardized tests for classroom purposes and using information from multiple sources to help students learn Classroom examples and stories breathe life into the concepts presented in the text

Grading for Impact Tom Hierck, Garth Larson, 2018-04-04 Aim for a target based grading system and create stronger learning opportunities Do you wish there was more clarity when it comes to measuring student progress and learning What if there was a way to utilize grading and assessment to focus on learning rather than performance and the process rather than the product As grading assessment and reporting continue to be relevant topics of discussion this book helps you create a functional plan to elevate and advance standards based grading practices Teachers and administrators will learn how to assess grade and report against specific learning targets rather than standards as a whole to make skill acquisition the highest priority Grounded in application to provide focus and clarity this book features Real case studies of schools that have incorporated target based assessment feedback grading and reporting Practical examples to guide implementation Questions checklists illustrations and audits of practice to showcase the work in action An accessible format and layout that support both immediate implementation and long term goals Despite being a topic that generates emotion and resistance to change target based assessment builds the foundation for a learner centered system that provides clear expectations and feedback for teachers students and parents Grading for Impact is a simple and straightforward guide to re thinking grading based on mastery of specific skills and concepts rather than broadly written standards Real world examples of teachers struggling with and answering the old questions are included How do we grade fairly and accurately and How do we use grades as an instructional strategy Joseph Staub High School Teacher Downtown Magnets High School CA Most stakeholders agree that report cards aren t enough to show what our students are learning in school but changing the traditional grading system is a task that requires careful planning and challenging discussions Grading for Impact shows educators how to start and plan the discussions that will result in genuine learning experiences for students Ernie Rambo Virtual Learning Community Coordinator Nevada National Board Professional Learning Institute

Charting a Course to Standards-Based Grading Tim R. Westerberg,2016-08-24 What s the best way to ensure that grading policies are fair accurate and consistent across classrooms How can schools transition to a grading system that better reflects what students are actually learning Tim R Westerberg makes this journey easier by offering a continuum of options with four destinations on the road to improved grading and assessment Destination 1 critically examines such popular grading mechanisms as the zero extra credit the semester killer project averaging mixing academic performance with work ethic and refusing to accept late work and explains how they undermine objectivity and instead result in widely divergent grades for comparable work with major consequences for students Destination 2 invites educators to put assessment and grading into the larger context of a districtwide guaranteed and viable curriculum and lays out the organizational conditions and necessary steps to accomplish this goal Destination 3 brings parents and others on board with a multiyear implementation plan and community engagement strategies for introducing report cards that indicate student achievement by standards rather than or in addition to letter grades Destination 4 competency based education involves a total rethinking of the nature and structure of school leading to individualized education for all students However far they choose to go administrators and teacher leaders can turn to Charting a Course to Standards Based Grading for the quick wins and long term support and guidance they need to make the trip well worth the effort
