ABSTRACT

This paper outlines ways to structure a research-methods class so that students gain a practical knowledge of how research is done. Emphasis is placed on data collection, using statistical software, and writing up results. Included in this article are several assignments and exercises that, when combined, work to produce a scholarly empirical report. Students gain an appreciation of the fruits and frustrations involved in the research process, and learn to be more critical consumers of research projects.

INTRODUCTION

In search of a way to teach research methods, I have turned to a practical, hands-on approach that encourages students to partake in the rewards of conducting their own empirical research. This article outlines goals and objectives, and includes a list of assignments that culminate in a presentable work of original research. In this undergraduate, political science, research-methods class, students learned about the research process that is integral to all social sciences. Further, this teaching method can easily be adapted to meet the needs of students at all levels, including graduate students in public administration and public policy. This paper outlines the steps used to accomplish this task, including the disadvantages and possible corrections for those who wish to adopt the method.

GOALS

Each institution, department, and instructor stresses different goals for training in research methods. Some might emphasize the diversity of social sciences, and the types of questions asked in various sub-disciplines. Others might advocate epistemology and the need to understand the role of scientific knowledge. The goals of this course briefly cover these very important issues in the methodology

Teaching Research Methods Learning By Doing:

Embracing the Tune of Expression: An Psychological Symphony within Teaching Research Methods Learning By Doing

In some sort of eaten by displays and the ceaseless chatter of instantaneous connection, the melodic beauty and emotional symphony produced by the prepared term often fade in to the backdrop, eclipsed by the persistent noise and disturbances that permeate our lives. However, located within the pages of Teaching Research Methods Learning By Doing an enchanting fictional value brimming with organic feelings, lies an immersive symphony waiting to be embraced. Crafted by a wonderful musician of language, this captivating masterpiece conducts visitors on an emotional trip, skillfully unraveling the concealed songs and profound affect resonating within each cautiously constructed phrase. Within the depths of the moving examination, we can investigate the book is key harmonies, analyze its enthralling writing model, and submit ourselves to the profound resonance that echoes in the depths of readers souls.
