Business Policy the Order and Judgment associated link

1. Classification will not end once the correct statement is reached

- Step 1 - Identify the nature of the policy using the portfolio analysis method (income, expense, asset)
- Step 2 - Identify the characteristics which give second level status
- Step 3 - Apply the rules

2. The order of the criteria matters

- Remember the order of the criteria will affect the final results. In Addition and Deduction the order matters, as you can't find their position in the portfolio table

Illustration (Example) - IFRS 16

Step 1 - Identify the nature of the policy

Step 2 - Identify the characteristics

Step 3 - Apply the rules

Step 4 - Identify the final classification

Step 5 - Apply the rules

- Step 1 - Remember that there are two different ways to get the classification through all these levels and explain why your classification could differ

- Step 2 - In the second order, you'll evaluate their change of the the nature of the asset or liability

Example: In the example, there's one asset which is a long-term contract which has a fixed price and a variable quantity. Although the contract has a fixed price, the variable quantity means that the contract is not a contract with a fixed price. In this case, the contract is classified as a contract with a variable quantity.

- Step 3 - Remember that the order of the characteristics of the asset or liability will affect the final classification and explain the change in the classification

Illustration (Example) - IFRS 16

Step 1 - Identify the nature of the policy

Step 2 - Identify the characteristics

Step 3 - Apply the rules

Step 4 - Identify the final classification

Step 5 - Apply the rules

Step 6 - Identify the final classification

Step 7 - Apply the rules
