Science Education Research and Practice from Japan Tetsuo Isozaki,Manabu Sumida,2021-07-19 This book project poses a major challenge to Japanese science education researchers in order to disseminate research findings on and to work towards maintaining the strength and nature of Japanese science education It also presents a unique opportunity to initiate change and or develop science education research in Japan It provides some historical reasons essential to Japanese students success in international science tests such as TIMSS and PISA Also it helps to tap the potential of younger generation of science education researchers by introducing them to methods and designs in the research practice The nature of human experience with language and education Çelen Dimililer,Ahmet Güneyli,2023-06-05 Mathematics Classroom Activities of Selected East Asian and Non-Asian Countries from the Views of Teachers and Students Jin Hee Lee,2012 East Asian countries have achieved high levels of mathematics competency This study investigated classroom activities of East Asian countries based on the idea that different learning experiences lead to gaps in academic outcomes The main purposes of this study were 1 to identify the features of classroom activities in the four East Asian countries of Chinese Taipei Hong Kong Japan and South Korea and the two non Asian countries of Hungary and England 2 to determine whether or not there are predominant features of classroom activities shared in East Asia and 3 to verify whether or not the perceptions of classroom activities between teachers and students are consistent with each other The data was gathered from the Student Questionnaire and the Teacher Questionnaire in TIMSS 2007 Descriptive statistics and Pearson s chi square tests were employed to examine classroom activities in the six countries The results indicated that compared to traditional mathematics activities the activities related to reform mathematics were not more likely to be deemphasized in each East Asian country Also with respect to reformed mathematics activities all East Asian countries did not necessarily emphasize them less than the two non Asian countries Furthermore in the frequencies of all ten activities statistically significant differences existed between all six countries as well as within the East Asian countries Lastly it was found that in numerous instances there were differences in perceptions of classroom activities between teachers and students within a country Based on the findings this study suggested not to regard educational practice in East Asia as traditional and to over simplify it by the label East Asian style However further studies are needed on various aspects of classroom practice except for classroom activities in East Asia In addition this study argued that both the views of students and teachers should be considered together in the study for educational practice Moreover it is suggested that future studies investigate the relationships of discrepancies between teachers and students with students learning and achievement Journal of Research and Development in Education ,1994 Hybrid Learning and Education Joseph Fong,2008-07-30 This book constitutes the refereed proceedings of the First International Conference on Hybrid Learning ICHL 2008 held in Hong Kong China in August 2008 The 38 revised full papers presented together with 3 keynote lectures were carefully reviewed and selected from 142 submissions The papers are organized in topical sections on hybrid education model and pedagogies for hybrid learning trends pervasive learning mobile and ubiquitous learning hybrid learning experiences hybrid learning systems technologies as well as contextual attitude and cultural effects Women Faculty of Color in the White Classroom Lucila Vargas,2002 What is it like for women of color to teach in predominantly white college classrooms This anthology is about the pedagogical implications of diversifying the faculty of higher education It compiles narratives by women professors of color who interrogate their classroom experiences in predominantly white U S campuses to examine the impact of their social positions upon their classroom practices and their teaching learning selves The authors reflect upon their unique classroom challenges and talk about the teaching learning strategies they use to find rewards in their interactions with students This anthology explores the larger question of how social distinctions shape classroom social life and will be a resource for those concerned with enabling the diversification of the faculty of institutions of higher learning Linguistics and Language Behavior Abstracts ,2007-10 Resources in Education ,1997 Curriculum and Teaching ,1999 What the West Can Learn from the East Oon-Seng Tan,Dennis M. McInerney,Arief Darmanegara Liem,Ai-Girl Tan,2008-09-10 The book addresses the Western orientation of education highlighting underrepresented Asian perspectives It covers effective learning and teaching self regulated learning success and failure causes valuing education peer influences creativity teacher commitment class size motivation and future goals Language and Literacy in Multilingual Contexts Yew Lie Koo,Hazita Azman,2012 International Educator ,2008 Second Language Instruction/acquisition Abstracts ,1997 Educational Perspectives ,2009 Social Interactions in Multicultural Settings Margarida César,Kristiina Kumpulainen,2009 Multicultural issues are part of the agenda for researchers academics and politicians The new technologies have brought multiculturality into our professional and personal lives opening new possibilities for social interactions among people from different countries cultures ages and gender Being able to deal with diversity including other cultures is a must in the 21st century This book is an opportunity to read narratives about social interactions in multicultural settings and to discuss the role they play in the construction of school and social achievement It is not only a book on multiculturality It is also a multicultural book including an introduction and 13 chapters from authors representing 11 countries and many more cultures It is a journey that brings you through different settings situations and scenarios describing them vividly so that the reader can have an authentic taste of them This is a book that researchers academics teachers policy makers and politicians should read It illuminates many of the problems related to multiculturality But it also reports on educational experiences and forms of interacting that help solving these problems It also illustrates the barriers that still exist and that keep many persons apart from equity Moreover due to its narrative mood the descriptions of what happens in different educational systems and episodes that could happen to us all including our kids this is a book for parents youngsters and all the ones interested in knowing other cultures After all education is an issue that is related to each human being We are all cultural individuals who need to interact with each other Thus this is a book to learn how social interactions in such a demanding multicultural world can help us live in peace and understand each other　　　□□□□□□□□□ ,2000
