GRAMMAR

THE VERB

The verb is the most important word in a sentence. It tells us what is happening and who is doing it. Verbs can be used in many different ways, and it is important to know the rules for using them correctly.

Verb forms

Verbs have different forms, including the base form, the past tense, the past participle, and the present participle. For example, the verb 'write' has the following forms: write (base form), wrote (past tense), written (past participle), and writing (present participle).

Verb tenses

Verb tenses are used to show the time of an action. The most common tenses are the present tense, the past tense, and the future tense. Each tense has different forms and rules for using them.

Verb agreement

Verbs must agree with the subject of the sentence. This means that the verb must be in the same form as the subject. For example, 'He writes' is correct, but 'He write' is incorrect.

SENTENCES

A sentence is a group of words that expresses a complete thought. Sentences can be simple, compound, or complex. Each type of sentence has different rules for using punctuation and capital letters.

Simple sentences

A simple sentence contains one independent clause. It can be as short as 'The cat sat' or as long as 'The cat sat on the mat under the tree in the garden.'

Compound sentences

A compound sentence contains two or more independent clauses joined by a coordinating conjunction (and, but, or, so, yet, for, nor).

Complex sentences

A complex sentence contains one independent clause and one or more dependent clauses. The dependent clause is introduced by a subordinating conjunction (because, although, when, if, since, as, after, before, until, while, once, unless, even though, in order that, so that, so as to, in order to, in order for, in order that).

ADJECTIVES

Adjectives are words that describe nouns. They tell us what something is like, how much of something there is, or which one it is. For example, 'The red car was parked in the garage.'

ADVERBS

Adverbs are words that describe verbs, adjectives, or other adverbs. They tell us how, when, where, or how often something happens. For example, 'She ran quickly to the store.'

PREPOSITIONS

Prepositions are words that show the relationship between a noun and another word in a sentence. They often indicate location, time, or direction. For example, 'The book is on the table.'

CONJUNCTIONS

Conjunctions are words that connect two or more words, phrases, or clauses. They are used to join ideas together and to show the relationship between them. For example, 'I like apples and oranges.'

INTERJECTIONS

Interjections are words that express strong feelings or emotions. They are often used to draw attention to something or to show surprise, anger, or excitement. For example, 'Wow, that's amazing!'

EMPHASIS & EMPHASIS WORDS

Emphasis words are used to make a statement stronger or more important. They can be used to draw attention to a particular part of a sentence or to show that something is true or certain. For example, 'I really do love this book.'

SENTENCE PUNCTUATION

Punctuation is used to mark the ends of sentences and to show the structure of a sentence. It helps to make writing clearer and easier to read. The most common punctuation marks are the period, the comma, the semicolon, the colon, the apostrophe, the exclamation point, and the question mark.
