The Rural Health Care Dilemma Eron G. Manusov,2009 Why not practice medicine in rural America In many areas the answer is simple isolation from colleagues lack of technology and skewed expectations of how a physician must practice in a rural community And so we have 25 percent of Americans living in rural areas but only 10 percent of physicians choosing to practice there Dr Eron G Manusov has a plan showing how one by one those reasons for avoiding a rural practice can be turned around to point the way toward improved health care for millions In The Rural Health Care Dilemma Dr Manusov explores the issues of prevention and treatment in rural America He spotlights what both physicians and patients need in terms of infrastructure mainstream technologies and medical expertise He lays out what it will take to improve the education recruitment and retention of rural physicians The reader will fully understand the difficulties and joys of medical practices in isolated rural communities Author Bio ABOUT THE AUTHOR Dr Eron G Manusov is a family physician writer musician and artist who spent 25 years in rural and military medicine that focused on medical education research and leadership His journeys took him from Japan and Korea to Germany and Hungary but he has dedicated his career to the education of healthy compassionate and skilled physicians He is the medical director of a corporation that provides healthcare to indigent patients minorities and those who require care for HIV and substance abuse He lives with his wife Nancy and children in rural North Carolina
