Ambrus explores how human beings relate to contemporary information technology Ambrus argues that religious traditions such as Judaism and Christianity as well as secular philosophical thought inspired by religion can be invoked to describe both the freedom and unfreedom of the user of information technology To illustrate how individuals relate to technology in a restricted and totalitarian online environment Ambrus adopts the figure and legend of the golem from Jewish mysticism At the same time his argument features other religious concepts and themes to describe an alternative to our present predicament of unfreedom while not seeking to portray any redemption outside the technological environment At the core of his argument Ambrus presents the experience of nothingness as a source of freedom opening up the possibility for a free relationship for us all with information technology
