The Bunker Diary Kevin Brooks,2019-08-06 I can't believe I fell for it It was still dark when I woke up this morning As soon as my eyes opened I knew where I was A low ceilinged rectangular building made entirely of whitewashed concrete There are six little rooms along the main corridor There are no windows No doors The elevator is the only way in or out What's he going to do to me What am I going to do People are really quite simple and they have simple needs Food water light space privacy Maybe a small measure of dignity A bit of freedom What happens when someone simply takes all that away

Fractures and Disruptions in Children's Literature Maria Teresa Cortez,Sandie Mourão,Ana Margarida

Ramos,2017-11-06 In March 2015 the eleventh edition of The Child and the Book Conference was organized at the University of Aveiro in Portugal The conference was related to the theme of fracture and disruption in children's and young adult literature This publication provides not only a synthesis of the main reflections but also a starting point for understanding the issues of fracture and disruption within children's and young adult literature The volume gathers texts from consolidated figures within the field of research in Children's Literature as well as contributions from junior researchers creating bridges and dialogue between both generations and critical and theoretical approaches It includes chapters on violence war sexuality and politics discussion around formal stylistic perspectives analysis of fringe works and hybrid literary forms as well as the issue of audience and the crossover universe Special reference should be given to the inclusion of contributions from lesser known countries and literatures such as Brazil Italy Norway Poland and Portugal The volume will be of interest to children's literature specialists graduate and post graduate students librarians and mediators of reading      The Microeconomic

Mode Jane K. Elliott,2018-06-26 From The Road to Game of Thrones across works as seemingly different as Gone Girl and Saw literature film and television have become obsessed with the intersection of survival and choice When the trapped rock climber hero of 127 Hours is confronted with self amputation or death it is only a particularly blunt example of an omnipresent set up In real life settings or fantastical games protagonists find themselves confronting extreme scenarios with life or death consequences forced to make torturous either/or choices in stripped down brutally stark environments Jane Elliott identifies and analyzes this new and distinctive aesthetic phenomenon which she calls the microeconomic mode Through close readings of its narratives tropes and concepts she traces the implicit theoretical and political claims conveyed by this combination of abstraction and extremity In the microeconomic mode humans isolated from any forms of social organization operate within a mini economy of costs and benefits gains and losses measured in the currency of life Elliott reads the key concepts that emerge from this aesthetic life interest sovereign capture and binary life in relation to biopolitics and natural law theory becoming and the control society and primitive accumulation in racial capitalism The microeconomic mode interrogates the destruction of the liberal political subject but what it leaves in its place is as disturbing as it is radically new Going beyond the question of neoliberalism in literature The Microeconomic Mode combines revelatory close readings of key literary and popular texts with significant theoretical interventions to identify how an aesthetics of choice has reshaped our contemporary understanding of what it means to be human Mind the Gap Phil Earle,2022-06-02 A powerful drama exploring love loss family and friendship from a superstar of UK children s and YA fiction inspired by a tremendously moving true story
