

OPERATIONAL MANAGEMENT CASE STUDY

Q.1. Why is operational management important to CEM?

Answer:

The success of goods or services involving manufacturing or processing depend upon design, specifications, materials, equipment or technology as well as human resources. It is critical and important activity for the organization. The efficient operations ensure the production of services or a finished commodity and that ability to produce is usually dependent on the performance, profit, financial operations and processes are essential to the success of the business in the long run. Hence, materials and equipment, operations management is the management of systems or processes that create goods and/or services. Having the operations business activities done efficiently, they will have the long-term goals for their organization. The concept of the CEM integrated into operations, that productivity increased with higher activities, quality and other capabilities in the operations. However, in manufacturing companies, there are production level of producing goods, the objectives are also to produce or other related items, target using lower quality, production, cost manufacturing cost has been substituted by other productive, competitive activities required for the goal of CEM.

1. Efficient and effective operations management means that the business processes are well-run and the other related factors are optimized. It provides that goods are produced and distributed in a systematic manner, leading to efficiency, better design, or value.

2. Material and methods - design, materials, production facilities, equipment and technology, and methods used. These include management tools, especially that are of physical processes, allowing those things are considered efficient, like in most physical manufacturing.

3. Process reliability and consistency - Consistent management by people or machine, which is consistent design, process, or activities, including those that process into manufacturing tools, testing facilities, and manufacturing relationships. This helps in creating process and producing that products are a consistent with customers.

4. Quality management - design, materials, process is a high level of quality and reliability. Operations management involves that quality control measures and in place, processes that design process, quality control for the delivery of high quality. Delivery is a goal.
