An Introduction to Property Valuation Alan Fred Millington,1994 An Introduction to Property Valuation Alan F. Millington,1982 Introductory Property Valuation Mathematics Ndubisi Onwuanyi,2024-09-02 This book introduces the subject of valuation It comprehensively explains basic concepts which connect valuation with economics such as price value rent and property market origins characteristics and functions However the core issue is how the book handles the calculations required for property valuations The valuation formulae are classified in helpful ways which highlight main formulae and their variants relationships and functions Many worked examples are used to demonstrate comprehensively the formulae s relationships and functions However innovation is introduced by calculations done in both a forward and backward manner Through this method the answer to an initial worked example becomes a new question which is solved by a reverse calculation process to produce an answer corresponding to the initial question This particularly illuminating approach enables effective and enduring learning and understanding

Principles of Valuation John Armatys,2013-10-11 Clear jargon free explanation of basic methodology with many examples for newcomers to subject Emphasises practical aspects such as property inspection Complete coverage of all the important areas of valuation

Property Valuation and Market Cycle Maurizio d'Amato,Yener Coskun,2022-09-28 This book discusses the role of the property market cycle in real estate valuation Challenging traditional property valuation methods that rely on current market conditions and economic trends this book argues for a re evaluation of the relationship between property valuation and cycles in property markets

The book is divided into two parts The first part gathers research on property market cycle analysis and the delicate problems dealing with property market information including the development of the real estate market index appraisal bias and the use of time series in plotting the market cycle The second part proposes several possible modifications to the traditional income approach methodologies including cyclical capitalization and the hedonic price method Furthermore this part also addresses the need for amendments to current s property valuation standards and institutional regulations Written by an international cross section of expert voices in market cycles and property valuation the book is a comprehensive resource for any researcher or upper level student studying economic volatility

Manchester and the Age of the Factory Roger Lloyd-Jones,M.J. Lewis,2026-02-20 Manchester and the Age of the Factory originally published in 1988 and now with a new preface by the authors focuses on Manchester the world s first industrial city and its transformation into Cottonopolis The book explores the contribution of the factory and the firm to the business structure and political economy of Cottonopolis The factory is not examined in isolation but in terms of its relation to a range of economic components. A major and indeed new emphasis of the work is centred on the relationship between factory and warehouse. These two components are identified as symbolic of two different systems of production whose political economy at the nodal point of the Industrial Revolution was associated with a struggle over the merits of the mechanised factory as opposed to the manufacturing putting out system. To investigate the interdependence of economic components the authors reconstruct Manchester's business structure for the years 1815 and 1825. The first reconstruction allows for the examination of the city's variegated business structure at a point midway through the classic Industrial Revolution and the ramifications of the empirical findings provide a focus of discussion in the subsequent chapters. The second reconstruction provides a comparative basis for exploring shifting business trends, identifying conflicting business interests and assessing the direct and indirect impact of the factory on the pattern of business development. For instance, the evolving business relationship between the factory and warehouse after 1815 played a pivotal role in shaping a new political economy examined at both local and national levels. This transformation prompted cotton firms to develop distinctive business strategies focused on managing the factory's human and physical resources.

The Real Estate Learner's Guide Ndubisi Onwuanyi, 2025-11-16. This collection of theoretical and applied concepts, technical descriptions, definitions and terms is intended for students of real estate. As a broad field dealing with the use, management and development of land, real estate makes use of established and relevant knowledge from many sources, including academic specialisms and cognate professions. Essentially, these terminologies pertain to what may be done on land to land and with land, including how and why. In effect, they are reflective of the status of land as a key resource which impacts all segments of society. This study and reference book aids learning by assembling fundamental and varied material from diverse sources. In addition, the provision of section-by-section directions for further reading facilitates learning by students in their preparation for a career in land property and valuation.

Computer Assisted Mass Appraisal William J. McCluskey, Alastair Adair, 2018-08-20. First published in 1997, this volume emerged in response to the need for material on the research, development, use and application of mass appraisal techniques for ad valorem property tax systems. The primary paradigms discussed include regression base, home technique, adaptive estimation procedure and artificial neural networks. Intending to address a wide range of property types, the authors explored residential, condominiums, retail office and industrial property, as well as agricultural and forestry land.

Geographical Information '97 Stuart Hodgson, Massimo Rumor, Jan Jaap Harts, 1997. Geographical Information is essential for the layout, planning and management of space and involves taxation, cadastral data, bases, environmental policy, water management, maintenance and protection of pipeline systems, terrain modelling and the making of maps. The third European conference brought together some 300 speakers and authors from academia, industry and government. The resulting monumental work is representative for the state of the art of knowledge and information on Geographical Information.
