1. Theologian Rudolf Bultmann writes: "Christianity is not a religion which is based on facts. It has never been historically verified, and never will be. It is a faith, and the Christian knows that this faith was revealed about his being-in-the-world, and that this revelation designates his existence in the world as finite. The Christian does not believe in the general resurrection of the dead, but in the resurrection of himself. However, it does mean that he has a future."
