The marketing plan presented in the book is based on the perspective that marketing is a core business discipline playing a crucial role in shaping many of a company's decisions and actions. A key feature of the book is its emphasis on marketing as a value creation process, making it relevant to both business-to-consumer and business-to-business contexts. This book is a valuable resource for managers in all types of organizations. For companies launching new products, it offers a structured process for developing a marketing plan to support the introduction of a new offering. For established businesses with existing product portfolios, it provides a systematic approach to managing their offerings and product lines. Whether used by a small business formalizing its planning process or a large multinational corporation, the framework in this book helps streamline marketing planning.

Dictionary of Marketing Communications Norman A. P. Govoni, 2004. Students of marketing must sort their way through a plethora of concepts, terms, and jargon. Norm Govoni's Dictionary is the answer. Compact, accurate, and accessible, it stands as an authoritative resource and a valuable adjunct to our marketing course materials. Robb Kopp, Babson College. The Dictionary of Marketing Communications is the most authoritative and comprehensive lexicon of marketing terms available today. Presented in down-to-earth language, it promises to be an essential and enduring resource for students, beginners, and seasoned professionals alike. Suzanne B. Walchli, University of the Pacific. The Dictionary of Marketing Communications contains more than 4,000 entries, including key terms and concepts in the promotion aspect of marketing, with coverage of advertising, sales promotion, public relations, direct marketing, personal selling, and e-marketing. Growing out of a database of terms compiled over many years by the author for use in his marketing classes at Babson College, this dictionary is a living, growing document reflecting the changing dynamics of the marketing profession. It will be an essential reference to practitioners, managers, academics, students, and individuals with an interest in marketing and promotion.

Key Features: Provides an up-to-date, accurate, comprehensive collection of terms and concepts that are essential for an understanding of the basic promotion functions of marketing. Entries are clear, applied, practical, and non-technical, designed for both students and professionals. International entries are included to give the reader a greater awareness of the language of marketing than has been previously available.

About the Author: Norman A. Govoni is Professor of Marketing at Babson College, where he served as Division Chair for fifteen years (1975-1990). He is the author of several textbooks, including Promotional Management, Fundamentals of Modern Marketing, Sales Management, and Cases in Marketing, all published by Prentice Hall. Among his honors is the Carpenter Prize for Outstanding Contributions to Babson College.
