Opening Up Hungary To The World Market External:

Opening up Hungary to the World Market Jochen Lorentzen, 2016-07-27 This book describes the opening of the Hungarian economy from the early 1980s to the current transition It analyses the management of external debt and international competitiveness and shows that the dismal economic performance of the country was only partially homemade Assurances by the international financial community that uninterrupted debt service would guarantee access to international capital markets as well as protectionist western trade practices contributed considerably to Hungary's difficulties in credit management and export performance Economic Transition in Hungary and East Germany J. Stephan, 1999-02-08 What factors determine the success of economic transition development and growth Examining the contrast between East German shock therapy and Hungary's gradualism the book generates a set of generalisable conditions for economic development which imply some degree of state intervention and strategy A stability oriented incomes policy and a carefully managed integration strategy can enable sustainable export surpluses a competitive currency and macroeconomic stability whilst providing sufficient room for economic restructuring structural transformation and technological catch up The dangers of premature integration are examined Foreign Economic Liberalization Andras Koves, 2019-03-07 This groundbreaking volume combines theories of economic liberalization with a wide variety of case studies from market and socialist economies Internationally regarded scholars and Eastern European policymakers have collaborated to evaluate the dramatic economic changes taking place throughout the world The opening essays contribute to the theoretical debate by showing that foreign economic liberalization goes beyond reducing import barriers to policies on investment financial liberalization convertibility and export promotion Case studies compare successful and unsuccessful liberalization attempts world wide The disintegration of the CMEA and the policy dilemmas facing Central and Eastern Europe are examined in great detail as the authors explore the pitfalls and opportunities inherent in the transformation from a centrally planned economy This up to date text will be invaluable for courses on the history and transformation of socialist economies comparative economic systems and international trade and investment A Triumph of Failed Ideas Steffen Lehndorff, 2012 The current crisis in Europe is being labelled in mainstream media and politics as a public debt crisis The present book draws a markedly different picture What is happening now is rooted in a variety of different ways in the destabilisation of national models of capitalism due to the predominance of neoliberalism since the demise of the post war golden age Ten country analyses provide insights into national ways of coping or failing to cope with the ongoing crisis They reveal the extent to which the respective socio economic development models are unsustainable either for the country in question or for other countries The bottom line of the book is twofold First there will be no European reform agenda at all unless each country does its own homework Second and equally urgent is a new European reform agenda without which alternative approaches in individual countries will inevitably be suffocated This message delivered by the country chapters is underscored by more general chapters on the prospects of trade union policy in Europe and on current austerity policies and how they interact with the new approaches to economic governance at the EU level These insights are aimed at providing a better understanding across borders at a time when European rhetoric is being used as a smokescreen for national egoism

Routledge Revivals: Hungary: The Politics of Transition (1995) Terry Cox, Andy Furlong, 2016-10-04 First published in 1995 the aim of this book is to review various aspects of the process of democratic transition in Hungary over the period of its first post communist freely elected parliament between 1990 and 1994 The studies collected in this book attempt to put them in the context of longer term trends in Hungarian politics Hungary offers an example of the problems of political change common to Eastern Europe following the collapse of the Eastern Bloc but also demonstrates a relatively stable and successful transformation built on a unique experience under communist rule that helped prepare it for a market orientated economy transition and political pluralism

Hungary Terry Cox, Andy Furlong, 2005-08-08 Gabor B. Tonyi analyzes Hungary's changing role and geopolitical position in Central Europe in the light of long term historical developments The book contains chapters on the country's economics politics society and the transition from Communist state to democracy

Journal of Economic Literature,

Privatising Old-age Security Katharina Müller, 2003 This is a comparative political economy interpretation of policy reform applied to pensions in eight bold reformer countries of Latin America and Eastern Europe The author shows what a multi faceted sometimes elusive undertaking reform is involving many different actors with often conflicting goals Considered within the specific policy and economic contexts the analysis confronts pension system reforms in countries that have been going through important or deep systemic transformation and that have used pension system reform also to pursue broader and deeper changes and macroeconomic stabilization Transitions to Capitalism and Democracy in Russia and Central Europe M. Donald Hancock, John Logue, 2000-04-30 Hancock and Logue along with their contributors seek to explicate the achievements problems and prospects of simultaneous processes of economic and political transitions from communism to contrasting forms of market economies and democracy in Russia Poland the Czech Republic Hungary Slovenia and eastern Germany Contributors include 14 American and European scholars with intimate professional and personal familiarity with the various case studies The contributors draw on process analysis and transition theory to explore different national approaches to privatization This includes individual voucher schemes the use of investment funds the direct sale of former state owned enterprises employee buy outs direct foreign investments and their consequences for parallel processes of marketization and democratization A quarter of the volume is devoted to comparative analyses of contrasting modes of privatization the role of public opinion and law in the transition process and the international economic and political context of postcommunist transformation An important analysis for scholars students and other researchers involved with postcommunist economic and political change

The Political Economy of Hungary Adam Fabry,2019-04-03 This book explores the political economy of Hungary from the mid 1970s to the present Widely considered a poster boy of neoliberal transformation in post communist Eastern Europe until the mid 2000s Hungary has in recent years developed into a model illiberal regime Constitutional checks and balances are non functioning the independent media trade unions and civil society groups are constantly attacked by the authorities there is widespread intolerance against minorities and refugees and the governing FIDESZ party led by Prime Minister Viktor Orb n controls all public institutions and increasingly large parts of the country s economy To make sense of the politico economical roller coaster that Hungary has experienced in the last four decades Fabry employs a Marxian political economy approach emphasising competitive accumulation class struggle both between capital and labour as well as different fractions of capital and uneven and combined development The author analyses the neoliberal transformation of the Hungarian political economy and argues that the drift to authoritarianism under the Orb n regime cannot be explained as a case of Hungarian exceptionalism but rather represents an outcome of the inherent contradictions of the variety of neoliberalism that emerged in Hungary after 1989

On the Theory and Policy of Systemic Change Hans-Jürgen Wager,2012-12-06 Between 1989 and 1992 three colloquia on transformation problems were held at the Ludwig Reimers Stiftung Bad Homburg At the end of the 1980s the collapse of the Soviet type socialist economic system had become clear and hence the necessity to transform these systems into an entirely different economic order Similar processes have happened and still happen in other historical constellations for instance in developing countries It has been the aim of the Transformation Colloquium to gain more theoretical insight into these phenomena The object of research has been transformation defined as transition from a given economic order socialist planned economy e g to a consistent new order market economy This is a highly complex phenomenon which occurred above all during the 20th century introduction and abolition of socialist systems transition from war economies to peace time market economies Historical experience allows perhaps for certain generalizing abstractions The central problem discussed at all up to now three colloquia is the question whether the object is amenable for theoretical analysis and which approaches eventually are promising
