GRAMMAR

THE VERB

The verb is the most important word in a sentence. It tells us what is happening and who is doing it. Verbs can be used in many different ways, and it is important to know the rules for using them correctly.

Verb forms

Verbs have different forms, including the base form, the past tense, the past participle, and the present participle. For example, the verb 'write' has the following forms: write (base form), wrote (past tense), written (past participle), and writing (present participle).

Verb tenses

Verb tenses are used to show the time of an action. The most common tenses are the present tense, the past tense, and the future tense. Each tense has different verb forms and is used in different situations.

Verb agreement

Verb agreement is the process of making the verb match the subject of the sentence. For example, 'He writes' is correct because 'writes' is the third person singular present tense form of the verb 'write', which matches the subject 'he'.

SENTENCES

Sentences are groups of words that express a complete thought. They usually contain a subject and a predicate. There are four main types of sentences: simple, compound, complex, and compound-complex.

Simple sentences

A simple sentence contains one independent clause. It has a subject and a predicate. Example: 'The cat sat on the mat.'

Compound sentences

A compound sentence contains two or more independent clauses joined by a coordinating conjunction (and, but, or, so, yet). Example: 'The cat sat on the mat, and the dog barked at the postman.'

Complex sentences

A complex sentence contains one independent clause and one or more dependent clauses. A dependent clause cannot stand alone as a sentence. Example: 'When the cat sat on the mat, the dog barked at the postman.'

Compound-complex sentences

A compound-complex sentence contains two or more independent clauses and one or more dependent clauses. Example: 'The cat sat on the mat, and the dog barked at the postman when the mailman came.'

ADJECTIVES

Adjectives are words that describe nouns. They tell us what something is like, how many there are, or which one it is. For example, 'The red car was parked in the garage.'

Types of adjectives

- Descriptive adjectives: describe the qualities of a noun (e.g., tall, blue, happy).
- Quantitative adjectives: tell how many (e.g., two, several, many).
- Demonstrative adjectives: point to a specific noun (e.g., this, that, these, those).
- Interrogative adjectives: ask questions (e.g., which, whose, how many).

ADVERBS

Adverbs are words that describe verbs, adjectives, or other adverbs. They tell us how, when, where, or how often something happens. For example, 'She ran quickly to the store.'

Types of adverbs

- Time adverbs: tell when something happens (e.g., now, then, later, soon).
- Place adverbs: tell where something happens (e.g., here, there, everywhere).
- Manner adverbs: tell how something happens (e.g., quickly, slowly, happily).
- Frequency adverbs: tell how often something happens (e.g., always, often, never).

PREPOSITIONS

Prepositions are words that show the relationship between a noun and another word in a sentence. They often indicate location, time, or direction. For example, 'The book is on the table.'

Types of prepositions

- Location prepositions: show where something is (e.g., on, under, in, at).
- Time prepositions: show when something happens (e.g., during, before, after).
- Direction prepositions: show the direction of movement (e.g., towards, from, into).

CONJUNCTIONS

Conjunctions are words that connect words, phrases, or clauses. They are used to join related ideas together. For example, 'I like apples and oranges.'

Types of conjunctions

- Coordinating conjunctions: join words or phrases of equal importance (e.g., and, but, or, so, yet).
- Subordinating conjunctions: join a dependent clause to an independent clause (e.g., because, although, when, if).
- Correlative conjunctions: join two phrases or clauses together (e.g., both...and, either...or, neither...nor).

EMPHASIS & MODIFIERS

Emphasis and modifiers are used to make a sentence more powerful or to provide more detail. They can be used to highlight important information or to describe something in more detail.

Emphasis

Emphasis is used to make a word or phrase stand out. It can be achieved through repetition, italics, or bold text. For example, 'It was she who found the key.'

Modifiers

Modifiers are words or phrases that describe or limit another word. They can be adjectives, adverbs, or prepositional phrases. For example, 'The small dog was barking loudly at the strange man.'

SENTENCE FLUENCY & PARSING

Sentence fluency and parsing are techniques used to improve writing and understand sentence structure. Fluency involves using a variety of sentence structures to make writing more interesting. Parsing involves breaking down a sentence into its constituent parts to understand its meaning.

Sentence fluency

Sentence fluency is the ability to use a variety of sentence structures to convey meaning. It involves using different types of sentences (simple, compound, complex) and varying sentence length and structure to create a more engaging and effective piece of writing.

Parsing

Parsing is the process of breaking down a sentence into its constituent parts (subject, verb, object, etc.) to understand its meaning. It is a useful tool for identifying errors in grammar and punctuation and for improving overall writing skills.
