Iowa State University Extension and Outreach

Department of Food Science and Human Nutrition

The Food Safety Modernization Act (FSMA) was signed into law on January 4, 2011. FSMA is the largest change in food safety law since the Food Drug and Cosmetic Act was first passed in 1938. FSMA has 4 major titles pertaining to food safety as follows:

- 1-Prevention,
- 2-Improved Inspection, Compliance and Response,
- 3-Improved Safety of Imported Foods and
- 4-Miscellaneous Provisions (Enhanced Partnerships).

Prevention, in the creation of validated preventive control plans will probably have the most impact on the US grain handling and processing industries.

The primary focus of FSMA is on prevention of incidents rather than on regulatory intervention after the fact. Much of the bulk agricultural industry is facing food safety regulation for the first time. Many principles of food safety have been common practice; others have not.

Virtually all food handling, storage, processing, distribution facilities must be registered with Food and Drug Administration (FDA) by January 31, 2013, and every two years thereafter. Previously registered facilities must reregister to update their information. Iowa State Extension has created a short training video on registration (website to be announced). Although there are some limited exemptions, registration applies to the vast majority of grain handling facilities, feed mills, processors, and other participants in the grain/grain product markets.

To comply with FSMA provisions, most registered facilities will need a written and verified food safety preventive control plan. FDA may issue full or partial exemptions to the requirements of Section 103, possibly in cases of throughput facilities without processing. Food safety preventive control plans are a self-evaluation of the possible food safety risks that could come into or be created by an operation. For each potential risk, there will need to be a statement of how that operation (you) is controlling the risk, and how the operation is checking to see that the controls work.

Although Guidance and Regulation from FDA have not been released, many activities (sanitation for example) are basic to food safety regardless of regulatory emphasis. Prevention means understanding your operations in a fairly detailed way, and how those up or down your market chain may affect your food safety issues. An example would be a buyer that roasts soybeans will automatically kill bacteria. Actions of suppliers or buyers can either relieve or magnify potential food safety problems.

This Checklist will help you organize your materials and assess your current food safety preparedness. The Checklist is NOT itself a plan; only an assessment tool to assist in the development of your own plan. ISU Extension will provide a generic plan template once the FDA rules and guidance are released. We recommend that you study your food safety capability
