Neo-Victorian Lesbians on Screen Sarah E. Maier,Rachel M. Friars,2025-09-09 In Neo Victorian Lesbians on Screen Maier and Friars argue that the on screen portrayal of lesbians situated in the long nineteenth century across various countries is at the very least a dual task the imperative project of revoicing lesbian silence and female companionship is complicated by the lack of and or complex representation of such women in the past The adaptations with varying degrees of success carefully manipulate the gaze of the viewer to illustrate both how crucial the act of looking proves to be for lesbian attachment in these films and how the viewer s own gaze changes the way the lesbian is represented Maier and Friars consider the adaptations awareness of the audience and the ways in which the films implicitly acknowledge the stakes behind bringing the lesbian to life as it were in visual media Because screen adaptations disrupt historical distance by literally picturing Victorian subjects via a medium they did not have film adaptations of novels and biofictions and original screenplays are challenged by the lesbian subject s vivid presence on screen The lesbian is no longer a contained neo Victorian presence in the othered nineteenth century but her very existence on screen signals her effervescent modernity which filmmakers alternately embrace or reject Representing Kink Sara K. Howe,Susan E. Cook,2019-09-06 Representing Kink raises awareness about non normative texts and non normative erotic practices and desires It defines kink broadly encompassing a range of inappropriate texts and understanding it in frequent reference to non normative erotic fantasies and experiences Kink is treated as both a set of practices as well as a category of texts at the nexus of subject and form In addition to canonical texts that take up erotic and marginalized themes the collection also studies forms that are themselves fringe and feature kink taboo literature self published erotica SM narratives fan fiction role playing games and other disavowed texts The purpose of this study is to focus attention on the margins of an already marginalized subject in order to highlight the extent to which non normative textuality and eroticism both shape and are shaped by culture and context It sheds light on a category of subjects that is at once mainstream in the form of texts such as Fifty Shades of Grey and yet nevertheless repeatedly disparaged and undertheorized This book advocates for conversations about kinky texts that transcend dichotomous frameworks of good and bad and normal and deviant thinking instead in new theoretically rigorous and flexible directions

Exploited, Empowered, Ephemeral Denise Burkhard, 2023-07-10 Childhood in neo Victorian fiction for both child and adult readers is an extremely multifaceted and fascinating field This book argues that neo Victorian fiction projects multiple competing visions of childhood and suggests that they can be analysed by means of a typology the childhood scale which provides different categories along the lines of power relations and literary possible worlds theory The usefulness of both is exemplified by detailed discussions of Philippa Pearce's Tom's Midnight Garden 1958 Eva Ibbotson's Journey to the River Sea 2001 Sarah Waters' Fingersmith 2002 and Dianne Setterfield's The Thirteenth Tale 2006 A dictionary of slang, jargon & cant, by A. Dozens of gay and lesbian films are examined here with a huge amount of clarity and respect. This is the ultimate guide to the growing force of gay and lesbian filmmaking. Slang and Its Analogues Past and Present William Ernest Henley, 1891 Slang and Its Analogues John Stephen Farmer, 1891 Fingersmith Sarah Waters, Sally Hawkins, Elaine Cassidy, Rupert Evans, Charles Dance, David Troughton, Imelda Staunton, 2005 Curve, 2002 Signed Copies Fingersmith, 2011-11-01 Treasury of Humorous Stories W H Smith Publishers, 1990-07 A huge collection of comedy classics. Contents More Roald Dahl Tales of the Unexpected Roald Dahl, 1980 Dahl is a master at introducing readers to a new sense of what lurks beneath the ordinary. The Advocate, 2006 Sidelights on Criminal Matters John Cuthbert Goodwin, 1923 This book is continued by the author's Insanity and the Criminal La Vie Passionnée of Rodney Buckthorne Ronald Verlin Cassill, 1968 Is sex the basic force of life or is it a terminal disease? For Rodney Buckthorne, sensitive satyr, literate lecher, aging Bohemian, nearing the summit in a life-long struggle up the dizzying heights of Mount Venus, the answer to this question seemed near at hand. Seeking it, he had fled wife, child and the groves of academe and put behind him the years misspent in guiding nubile co-eds through pastures of poetic plenty and had launched himself into one last seminal odyssey through the hearts and beds of New York's women. His guide and his nemesis was Nickie Duart, a clean-cut curly-headed pot-smoking vicious young artist with dreams of grandeur beyond Andy Warhol's wildest imaginings. It was through Nickie that he met Lois, the dark lady of macaroni commercials and the too fecund Cynthia and Maris and Marsie and Regina and the former champion baton twirler and all the ones who remained nameless in the lusting, searching nights. And as the staff of life at last began to bend and the lure of the veiled lady became blinding, it was through Nickie that he came to the end of the world, perhaps the most bizarre and ironic happening in modern fiction, and found the answer to the riddle of his long quest. For Rodney Buckthorne, like Humbert Humbert, is a seeker and as with Nabokov's obsessed wanderer, the passionate journey of Rodney Buckthorne casts a brilliant light on the current cultural scene and deftly pricks the frail bubble of American morality.
