Language and History in Adorno's Notes to Literature Ulrich Plass, 2013-11-15 Language and History in Theodor W Adorno's Notes to Literature explores Adorno's essays on literature as an independent contribution to his aesthetics with an emphasis on his theory and practice of literary interpretation. Essential to Adorno's essays is his unorthodox treatment of language and history and his elaboration of the links between the two. One of Adorno's major but often neglected claims is that truth is relative to its historical medium, language. Adorno persistently and creatively tries to narrow the gulf between truth and expression, philosophy and rhetoric, and his essays on literature are practical examples of his effort to critically rescue the rhetorical dimension of philosophy. Rather than relying exclusively on aesthetic concepts inherited from his predecessors in the Western tradition—Kant, Hegel, Nietzsche, Kierkegaard—Adorno's essays seek to transgress and transcend the conceptual limitations of aesthetic discourse by appropriating a non-conceptual, metaphorical vocabulary borrowed from the literary texts he investigates. Thus, Adorno's interpretations of literature mobilize an alternative, subterranean, primarily essayistic and fragmentary discourse on language and history that eludes the categories that tend to predominate his thinking in his major work, Aesthetic Theory. This book puts forth the claim that Adorno's essays on literature are of central relevance for an understanding of his aesthetics because they challenge the conceptual limitations of philosophical discourse.

Celluloid Babel Ori Levin, 2025-11-01 Traces the intellectual history of cinema's aspiration to create a universal language, examining how this vision has been articulated in both writings and films. Celluloid Babel offers a transnational intellectual history of cinema's quest for universal language, unfolding through both writings and films. Today, algorithms and data collection systems play a significant role in predicting the viewer's preferences and suggesting content specifically tailored to their particular interests. However, this promise of on-demand, personalized media is markedly different from the promise outlined in cinema's initial promotional discourse, which celebrated the medium's ability to appeal to a universal audience. Instead of targeting fragmented audiences, cinema was supposed to captivate and engage everyone, all at once, regardless of social station, educational level, or national affiliation. The aspiration for a universal language left an indelible mark on film history, yet despite its significance, the history and theory behind it remain largely unexplored. Celluloid Babel illuminates a pivotal chapter in early film theory and establishes it as the inaugural paradigm of thought on cinema's nature. By exploring this pursuit, the book reveals the forgotten utopian potential of mass media and uncovers complex correlations among political ideals, aesthetic preferences, material conditions, modes of spectatorship, and governance.

Edward Said and the Question of Subjectivity Pannian Prasad, 2016-04-08 Edward Said and the Question of Subjectivity explores the notion of subjectivity implicated in and articulated by Said in his writings. Analyzing several of his major works, Pannian argues that there is a shift in Said's intellectual trajectory that takes place after the composition of Orientalism. In so doing, Said forthrightly attempts to retrieve a theoretical and political humanism, as Pannian identifies, despite the difficult and sanguinary aspects of its past He elaborates upon Said's understanding that only after recognising the structures of violence and coming to discern strategies of interpellation may the individual subject effectively resist them Pannian also explores Said's ideas on exilic subjectivity the role of intellectuals acts of memory critical secularism affiliation and solidarity before dwelling on his interface with Marxist thinkers such as Antonio Gramsci Theodor Adorno and Raymond Williams This engagement marks Said's own subject formation and shapes his self-reflexive mode of knowledge production Swallowing the World Don Freas, 2012 Mosaic, 2012-12 The Journal of Commonwealth Literature, 1998 One number each year includes Annual bibliography of Commonwealth literature The Newspaper, the Novel and the Project of Modernism Marc Joseph DaRosa, 1997 Magazines for Libraries William Armstrong Katz, 2003 *Theodor W. A. Belloli, 1997 Daniel Libeskind represents a unique attempt to provide a comprehensive critical analysis of Libeskind's architecture and philosophy Libeskind serves as the mediator of his own work exploring various projects through an illuminating juxtaposition of textual commentary with illustrations of competition models concept drawings and site photos of realized works Essays by Jacques Derrida and Mark C Taylor among others provide a critical analysis of Libeskind's architecture identifying his place within the context of contemporary architecture and theory The book concludes with a collection of Libeskind's most important essays many of which are published here in English for the first time Play and Its Critic Eric Bentley, 1986-11-04 Phantasmagoria David Trevor Evans, 1999 This is an exploration of contemporary discourses and practices on and around opera as a cultural form This text examines such areas as high art popular entertainment and star performers The main aim of the book is not to give a history of opera or to be an encyclopaedia of opera but to provide a comprehensive sociological account of opera's current socio-cultural standing contemporary representations of opera and opera's fragmented incorporation into mass or popular commercial culture Bertolt Brecht Journals Bertolt Brecht, 1993 From Scandinavia across Russia to Hollywood then on via Switzerland and a flirtation with Salzburg back to his own disappointing country Brecht makes shrewd if sometimes harsh judgements on the people he meets Some people included are Thomas Mann the Frankfurt philosophers Schonberg Isherwood D Annunzio Ezra
