

Dynamic analysis of buildings for earthquake-resistant design¹

Murat Saatcoglu and Jag Mohan Humar

Abstract: The proposed 2005 edition of the National Building Code of Canada specifies dynamic analysis as the preferred method for computing seismic design forces and deflections, while maintaining the equivalent static force method for areas of low seismicity and for buildings with certain height limitations. Dynamic analysis procedures are categorized as either linear (elastic) dynamic analysis, consisting of the elastic modal response spectrum method or the numerical integration linear time history method, or nonlinear (inelastic) response history analysis. While both linear and nonlinear analyses require careful analytical modelling, the latter requires additional considerations for proper simulation of hysteretic response and necessitates a special study that involves detailed review of design and supporting analyses by an independent team of engineers. The paper provides an overview of dynamic analysis procedures for use in seismic design, with discussions on mathematical modelling of structures, structural elements, and hysteretic response. A discussion of the determination of structural period to be used in association with the equivalent static force method is presented.

Key words: dynamic analysis, earthquake engineering, elastic analysis, fundamental period, hysteretic modelling, inelastic analysis, National Building Code of Canada, seismic design, structural analysis, structural design.

Résumé : L'édition 2005 du Code National du Bâtiment du Canada spécifie l'analyse dynamique comme méthode de calcul de préférence afin de déterminer les forces de conception sismiques et les déflexions, tout en maintenant la méthode de force statique équivalente pour les régions à faible sismicité et pour les bâtiments ayant certaines limitations en hauteur. Les procédures d'analyse dynamique sont catégorisées comme étant linéaire (élastique) avec des méthodes de spectre de réponse modale élastique et des méthodes temporelles d'intégration numérique linéaire, ou des méthodes temporelles non-linéaires (inélastiques). Bien que les deux types d'analyse (linéaire et non-linéaire) requièrent une modélisation analytique soignée, cette dernière requiert des considérations additionnelles afin de simuler correctement la réponse d'hystérésis et nécessite une étude spéciale, qui comporte une révision détaillée de la conception et des analyses secondaires provenant d'équipes indépendantes d'ingénieurs. Cet article procure un survol des procédures d'analyse dynamique utilisées pour la conception sismique, avec des discussions sur les modèles mathématiques des structures, éléments structurels et réponse d'hystérésis. Une discussion sur la détermination de la période structurale a été utilisée en association avec la méthode de force statique équivalente est présentée.

Mots clés : analyse dynamique, génie sismique, analyse élastique, période fondamentale, modèle d'hystérésis, analyse inélastique, Code National du Bâtiment du Canada, conception sismique, analyse structurale, conception structurale.

Introduction

Structural response to earthquakes is a dynamic phenomenon that depends on dynamic characteristics of structures and the intensity, duration, and frequency content of the exciting ground motion. Although the seismic action is dynamic in nature, building codes often recommend equivalent static load analysis for design of earthquake-resistant buildings due to its simplicity. This is done by focusing on the predominant first mode response and developing equivalent static forces that produce the corresponding mode shape, with some empirical adjustments for higher mode effects. The use of static load analysis in establishing seismic design quantities is justified because of the complexities and difficulties associated with dynamic analysis. Dynamic analysis becomes even more complex and questionable when non-linearity in materials and geometry is considered. Therefore, the analytical tools used in earthquake engineering have been a subject for further development and refinement, with significant advances achieved in recent years.

The seismic provisions of the 1995 edition of the National Building Code of Canada (NBCC 1995) are based on the equivalent static load approach with dynamic analysis permitted for obtaining improved distribution of total static base
