The Rehabilitation Complexity Scale Version 2 A:

A Clinician's Guide to Functional Neurological Disorder Egberdina-Józefa van der Hulst,2023-04-28 This manual for clinicians presents a ground breaking accessible and unifying new model for understanding functional neurological disorder FND that bridges the gap between theoretical FND specific models and the more practical but non FND specific Cognitive Behavioural Therapy CBT models Grounded in psychology the Pressure Cooker Model provides a clear metaphor for FND focusing on intra individual and inter individual cognitive emotional and behavioural processes Developed based on years of clinical experience in the field it is applicable to the assessment and treatment of every type of FND Viewed as a systemic condition with unique psychosocial features the book will describe the rationale for radically transforming FND recovery by providing a treatment model that aims to resolve emotion dysregulation processes and repair relationships between the person and the system It uses a unifying framework to guide the steps of intervention and can be adapted for work in a multidisciplinary team context to facilitate communication between disciplines Enriched with case studies and research data the book also highlights a plethora of clinical tools and strategies based on the Pressure Cooker Model as well as contextualising its position alongside CBT models This manual is instrumental in educating and treating people with FND It offers essential guidance for neuropsychologists neuropsychiatrists and other health professionals as well as students in these fields

Severe and Profound Brain Injury Sonja Soeterik,Sal Connolly,Sarah Crawford,2025-10-13 Severe and Profound Brain Injury is a comprehensive guide offering clinicians practical tools techniques and ways to structure thinking in approaching how to best assess and provide neurorehabilitation to patients with the most overwhelming and complex neuro disability Advances in acute care will lead to increasing numbers of people surviving with complex neuro disability and more families will be challenged by a confusing and devastating form of loss Most clinicians will not have encountered this level of impairment in clinical practice and can feel deskilled challenged by how best to help and overpowered by the questions it raises This book proposes a paradigm shift in how to assess and formulate the cognitive behavioural and emotional difficulties in complex neuro disability The task for clinicians is to look for ability in the face of global impairment rather than focus on areas of disability Practical advice is provided on how to approach thinking about the issues and design bespoke person centred assessments from first principles with robust methodology Prolonged disorders of consciousness and locked in syndrome are discussed in detail Guidance is given to keeping the person at the centre of decision making and intervention planning particularly as so many will lack mental capacity and require best interests decisions to be made on their behalf This is essential reading for established clinicians wanting to develop expertise working with these patients and their families clinical psychologists neuropsychologists other health professionals students and trainees
