read Canadian women novelists of the 1970s and 1980s At its centre lies the question of how the search for a distinctive cultural identity relates to the need for a national cultural identity in the post colonial era Coral Ann Howells argues that Canadian women s fiction throughout the period of study represents how the Canadian cultural identity exceeds its geographical limits and those traditional structures of patriarchal authority need revision if women s alternative views are to be taken into account Including short biographical sketches and a complete list of the books published by the authors under discussion writers examined include Margaret Atwood Alice Munro and Margaret Laurence Mervyn Peake Tanya J. Gardiner-Scott,1989 This study traces Mervyn Peake s evolution from aesthetically Gothic writer to socially aware Dark Romantic through an investigation of his theme of the relativity of perception Its contents include an in depth analysis of the metamorphic fluidity of identity revealed in Titus Groan 1946 Gormenghast 1950 and Titus Alone 1959 1970 with a detailed examination of the latter s prepublication sources and its links with Holocaust literature and dystopian science fiction This close reading of the Titus novels places Peake firmly in the postmodernist tradition Twentieth-century Romance and Historical Writers Lesley Henderson,D. practice of eighteenth century law Secondly the work exposes and explores the influence of this combination of discourses upon the formation of gender identities in this period The author argues that it is only through a study of the convergence of these key eighteenth century discourses that changing conceptualisations of femininity can fully be understood Thirdly it examines the presence within eighteenth century fiction by women of a new female subject Novels by women in this period Chaplin posits begin to reveal that the female subject position constructed through the discourses of law sensibility and the sublime gives rise for women to a feminine ontological crisis that may be seen to anticipate by two hundred years the trauma of the post modern male subject unable to present a unified subjectivity to himself or to the world This feminine crisis finds expression within a range of female fiction of the mid to late eighteenth century in Charlotte Lennox s anti romance satire Frances Sheridan s conduct book novels the Gothic romances of Radcliffe and Eliza Fenwick and the sensationalistic horror fiction of Charlotte Dacre Concentrating upon these writers Chaplin argues that their works speak of dread on behalf of women in this period and to varying degrees challenge discourses that construct femininity as a highly unstable barely tenable subject position Combining the works of Lyotard and Irigaray to formulate a new feminist reading of the eighteenth century discourse of the sublime this study offers fresh insights into the culture and politics of the eighteenth century It presents highly original readings of well known and lesser known literary texts that interrogate from fresh perspectives the complex theoretical issues pertaining to British and American Studies ,1995 Framed Views and Dual Worlds Cathrin Senn,2001 The window is an everyday object and thus frequently appears in prose fiction However at the beginning of the nineteenth century the window emerges as a dominant motif in both painting and literature and has held an important position up to the present day This original study of the window in prose fiction in English shows that the window occurs as a distinct motif in the works of some of the major writers of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries appearing in the fiction of Nathaniel Hawthorne Charles Dickens the Bront sisters George Eliot Thomas Hardy Henry James Oscar Wilde James Joyce Virginia Woolf F Scott Fitzgerald William Faulkner Ernest Hemingway and Vladimir Nabokov The author attempts a new categorisation by differentiating between the window as a frame or limited opening and the window as a transparent medium separating inside and outside In contrast to conventional thematic interpretations the book focuses on the window s properties in relation to textual and narrative structures examining its appearance at the opening and close of a piece of fiction its use as a frame to a picture and its role in generating dual worlds American Studies Marta Wiszniowska-Majchrzyk,1996 Faces of Evil in Selected Novels by Bram Stoker Anonym,2012-05-25 Master s Thesis from the year 2011 in the subject English Language and Literature Studies Literature grade 1A Warsaw University language English abstract The goal of this research is to examine selected works of Bram Stoker Dracula The Jewel of Seven Stars The Lady of the Shroud The Lair of the White Worm and examine the presence of elements that are both characteristic of Gothic literature and unique in the works of Stoker In order to investigate and present some of Stoker s lesser known works the analysis is concentrated on the most prominent elements present in his novels like the negative impact of the natural environment on the mind and body the transgression of moral and social boundaries and the relationship between woman and evil Prior to a close investigation each chapter first presents the theory behind each topic and exemplifies it by giving an overview of prominent literary works that appeared before 1900

A Literary Symbiosis Hazel Pierce, 1983-11-16 A Literary Symbiosis studies the merger of science fiction fantasy and mystery fiction from historical and critical perspectives Pierce examines the problems and expectations raised by the various literary labels particularly as regards definition theme conventions stock characters and setting While she admits the difficulties inherent in merging idea oriented speculative science fiction with the situation specific and present time oriented mystery story she argues that the two genres have much in common The book examines critically the elements of mystery fiction which have been integrated with varying degrees of success into science fiction fantasy This evaluation focuses on individual authors and novels or short stories which contributed to the original modes and to their synthesis
