Gender, Science, and Authority in Women's Travel Writing Michelle Medeiros, 2019-04-15

Gender Science and Authority in Women s Travel Writing Literary Perspectives on the Discourse of Natural History analyzes the interrelations among authority gender and the scientific discipline of natural history in the works of transatlantic women travelers from the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries Michelle Medeiros sheds new light on our understanding of the literary perspectives of the discourse of natural history and how these viewpoints had a surprising impact in areas that went beyond scientific fields This book advances the study of travel writing and gender in new directions by bringing together Latin American European and American women travelers who actively engaged in natural history discussions in their writings By demonstrating how these women were only able to participate in intellectual enterprises by embarking on transatlantic voyages this book discloses how the work produced by these travelers challenged and reshaped dominant discourses bringing a new point of view to nineteenth and twentieth centuries studies in Latin American history literature cultural studies and history of science Moreover this book analyzes to what extent the approaches employed by female travel writers who wanted to engage in the production of knowledge has evolved in that time period and to what degree such changes could be considered positive and more productive

The Critical Poem Thorpe Running,1996 In this book scholar Thorpe Running shows that a skeptical approach to both language and poetry places eight poets from three countries in Latin America within a strain of poetry prefigured by Stephane Mallarme Octavio Paz Jorge Luis Borges Roberto Juarroz Alejandra Pizarnik Alberto Girri Juan Luis Martinez Gonzalo Millan and David Huerta span three different generations In addition to their age and geographical differences their poetry bears no obvious similarities All eight however are poetas pensantes or thinking poets and underlying the work of these probing writers is the disturbing question Does language do what it is supposed to do The answer is negative for all these poets who see their poems as being made up of words that don't work
