Paradigms in Word Formation Alba E. Ruz, Cristina Fernández-Alcaina, Cristina Lara-Clares, 2022-09-15 The focus of Paradigms in Word Formation Theory and applications is on the relevance of paradigms for linguistic description Paradigmatic organization has traditionally been considered an inherent feature of inflectional morphology but research in the last decades clearly shows the existence of paradigms in word formation especially in affixal derivation often at the expense of other word formation processes This volume seeks to address the role that paradigms may play in the description of compounding conversion and participles This volume should be of interest to anyone specialized in the field of English morphology and word formation

The Use of Pop Songs in the EFL Classroom Ornerová Lenka, 2011-03-09 Inhaltsangabe Introduction I have chosen the topic of using pop songs in the EFL classroom because I strongly believe that working with pop songs is a highly motivational device When I was a student at a lower and upper secondary school listening to songs in English classes was my favourite activity I have always wanted to be able to understand the lyrics of songs I listened to Later I realized that I have learned a lot from listening to pop songs and analyzing their lyrics Therefore in my diploma project I would like to prove that using pop songs is a highly motivational device in teaching English with instructional value and that students enjoy working with pop songs The theoretical part of this diploma project is based on relevant sources of background literature In the first two chapters the use of songs is described with regard to motivation and the Multiple Intelligences Theory The third and fourth chapter deal with the reasons for using songs and their classification In the last two chapters of the theoretical part pedagogical principles of using pop songs in class as well as the pros and cons of teaching through pop songs are presented The practical part is based on the findings of three surveys I have conducted in the field of using songs in the EFL classroom In the first part of the research I present an analysis of questionnaires which I distributed among English teachers at lower and upper secondary schools and grammar schools In the second part of the research I describe students attitudes to pop song based lessons which I taught during my teaching practice at grammar schools In the third part of the research I analyze the types of songs presented in commonly used textbooks at lower and upper secondary schools In addition I present a self developed teaching material containing a list of pop songs suitable for the EFL classroom In the last part of the practical part I answer the research questions and provide some implications for my own teaching

Dictionary Use and Dictionary Teaching Annette Klossa-Kückelhaus, Martina Nied Curcio, 2024-10-07 Foreign language learners often use electronic dictionaries or other information from the Internet to solve language problems However they seem to have great difficulty using dictionaries and online resources appropriately profitably and successfully Their teachers also seem unfamiliar with the current dictionary landscape and sometimes insist on using a single monolingual print dictionary in class As a result dictionaries are often banned from the classroom altogether However in today s digital global and multilingual world appropriate competence in the use of dictionaries is an essential communicative strategy Dictionary didactics should thus be integrated into foreign language teaching Against this background the contributions in this volume discuss how dictionary use can be promoted and integrated into the classroom They also consider how modern lexical resources and dictionaries should be designed to support learners Last but not least they present ideas for educational policies that could promote the use of dictionaries and lexicographic online resources This volume offers important insights to language teachers authors of language teaching materials practical lexicographers and other applied linguists

Challenges in Language Testing Around the World Betty Lanteigne,Christine Coombe,James Dean

Brown,2021-02-17 This book combines insights from language assessment literacy and critical language testing through critical analyses and research about challenges in language assessment around the world It investigates problematic practices in language testing which are relevant to language test users such as language program directors testing centers and language teachers as well as teachers in training in Graduate Diploma and Master of Arts in Applied Linguistics programs These issues involve aspects of language testing such as test development test administration scoring and interpretation use of test results Chapters in this volume discuss insights about language testing policy testing world languages developing program level language tests and tests of specific language skills and language assessment literacy In addition this book identifies two needs in language testing for further examination the need for collaboration between language test developers language test users and language users and the need to base language tests on real world language use
