Ecclesiology And Ethics:

The Church as Moral Community Lewis Seymour Mudge, 1998 Contributions by churches to public discourse have become disconnected from the fabric of communal relationships in which Christians stand by virtue of the reconciling work of God in Jesus Christ We argue individualistically legally ideologically but seldom as members of a body for whom relationships of basic trust with others are fundamental This book seeks a strategy for recovering these missing connections The heart of the argument is that churches need to recover the vocation of providing primary moral formation of shaping people s moral identity long before politicized policy arguments begin The True Church and Morality Duncan B. Forrester, 1997 Despite tensions over whether the search for unity is primarily about seeking to resolve divisive theological controversies or collaborating in pursuit of reconciliation justice and peace the author argues for an unbreakable connection between unity and mission He examines how the church serves as a moral community in arriving at a common mind on ethical issues and in forming people morally within the Christian fellowship Ecclesiology and Ethics Thomas F. Best, 1997 Between 1993 and 1996 a World Council of Churches study examined the relationship between ecclesiology our understanding of what the church is and ethics what the church does in responding to problems and issues facing the world today Gathered in this single volume are the reports from three consultations Costly Unity Costly Commitment and Costly Obedience along with major papers from the third which focused on the church as a community in which people are formed morally This ecumenical enquiry offers fresh insights into critical issues for all who are seeking a renewed vision of the ecumenical movement Among the themes are the imperative for ecumenical ethical reflection and engagement the church as a community in which moral formation takes place through its teaching and through its life the ethical dimension of worship baptism and eucharist the relation between koinonia fellowship and the quest for justice peace and the integrity of creation the churches relationship to movements and action groups Church as Moral Community Lewis S. Mudge, 1998-06-01 A major contribution providing new impetus for ecumenical inquiry A rich and multifaceted argument for the comprehensive and global implications of particular formational processes within Christian faith communities Anna Marie Aargaard this is a thoughtful and provocative book It has been a long time since I read anything that seemed so hopeful about a movement that looks so difficult to resurrect in today s world As one commentator put it and I agree If anyone can breathe new life into the ecumenical movement it is Lewis Mudge The Clergy Journal Mudge provides a valuable contribution to the discussion of ecclesiology and ethics through his insistence that local congregations in all their diversity are the basis for building moral community The book will be a useful resource for those who are seeking new ways to be church in a broken world Toronto Journal of Theology Christian Ethics and the Church Philip Turner, 2015-09-29 This book introduces Christian ethics from a theological perspective Philip Turner widely recognized as a leading expert in the field explores the intersection of moral theology and ecclesiology arguing that the focus of Christian ethics should not be personal holiness or social reform

but the common life of the church A theology of moral thought and practice must take its cues from the notion that human beings upon salvation are redeemed and called into a life oriented around the community of the church This book distills a senior scholar s life work and will be valued by students of Christian ethics theology and ecclesiology

The Peace Church and the Ecumenical Community Fernando Enns,2007 In 1998 at the eighth Assembly of the World Council of Churches in Harare Zimbabwe a motion was tabled and subsequently accepted by the delegates that the World Council designate 2001 2010 as the Decade to Overcome Violence In this book Enns the delegate who proposed the motion in Harare presents the theological foundations underlying his call for the churches of the world to work toward overcoming violence Enns proposes that both Christian ethics and ecclesiology need to be based on a trinitarian view of God as creator of the world incarnated in Christ and present in the Holy Spirit urging all Christian churches to heed the call to peace and nonviolence We are indebted to Fernando Enns for providing a compelling case for the historic peace church to take up its responsibility within the ecumenical context and for stirring our imagination to think of other contexts in which to engage the church and the world in witness to peace justice and nonviolence Mennonite Quarterly Review

Ecclesiology and Ethics ,1995 The Church as Participatory Community Simone Sinn,2002 Is church a place where people are formed by a specific liturgical and moral tradition or a space where they are transformed towards a new reality Are these two dynamics mutually exclusive or are they interrelated In this study Simone Sinn explores these questions and in so doing proposes an approach to church life which integrates ethics hermeneutics and ecclesiology Arguing that the church is called to enable people to understand themselves and each other in the light of God s will and action Sinn develops the concept of church as participatory community Moreover she suggests that it is by fostering and encouraging this approach that the church enables people to participate existentially and critically in the formation of their own faith

Ecclesia and Ethics Edward Allen Jones III,John Frederick,John Anthony Dunne,Eric Lewellen,Janghoon Park,2016-05-19 Ecclesia and Ethics considers the subject of Ecclesial Ethics within its theological theoretical and exegetical contexts Part one presents the biblical theological foundations of an ecclesial ethic examining issues such as creation and Paul s theology of the Cross Part two moves on to examine issues of character formation and community Finally part three presents a range of exegetical applications which examine scripture and ethics in praxis These essays look at hot button issues such as the virtual self in the digital age economics and attitudes to war The collection includes luminaries such as N T Wright Michael J Gorman Stanley Hauerwas and Dennis Hollinger as well as giving space to new theological and exegetical voices As such Ecclesia and Ethics provides a challenging and contemporary examination of modern ethical debates in the light of up to date theology and exegesis

Ecclesiology and Ethics E. M. Conradie,Hans S. A. Engdahl,Isabel Apawo Phiri,2015 Augustinian and Ecclesial Christian Ethics D. Stephen Long,2018-08-15 What is the relationship between the command to love one s enemies and the use of violence and or other coercive political means

This work examines this question by comparing and contrasting two important contemporary approaches to Christian ethics neoAugustinian and the ecclesial or neoAnabaptist It traces the complicated conversation that has taken place since John Howard Yoder took on Reinhold Niebuhr's interpretation of the Anabaptists in the 1940s It consists of three parts The first part traces the development of the Augustinian Niebuhrian approach to ethics from Niebuhr through those who have advanced his work including Paul Ramsey Timothy Jackson Charles Mathewes Eric Gregory and Jennifer Herdt It also examines the Augustinian ethics of Oliver O'Donovan John Milbank and Nicholas Wolterstorff Along with tracing the Augustinian approach and its trajectories through agapism theology and the interpretation of Augustine it identifies fifteen criticisms that this approach brings against the neoAnabaptists The second part traces the origin of the ecclesial or neoAnabaptist approach and then examines its relationship to and criticism of agapism what theological doctrines are central and its interpretation of Augustine Its purpose is primarily constructive by explaining the role that ecclesiology Christology and eschatology have among the neoAnabaptists The third part addresses the criticisms levied by Augustinians against the neoAnabaptists by drawing on the constructive theology in the second part It intends to show where the Augustinian critics are correct where they have missed key theological teachings and where they misrepresent It also assesses the summons to the nationalist project the Augustinians put to the neoAnabaptists If this work is successful this third part will not be defensive It will instead illumine the reasons for the criticisms and suggest means by which the conversation that began between Yoder and Niebuhr can continue and possibly bear fruit for theological ethics in both its ecclesial and nationalist projects for generations to come

Changing the Questions Margaret A. Farley, 2015 This introduction to and overview of the work of Margaret Farley one of the church's leading ethicists will be a valuable resource for students of public ethics sexual ethics and the ethics of relationships Essays from throughout Farley's long scholarly career both published and unpublished focus on the intersection of ethics and public life Changing the Questions also includes Farley's sermons as well as her essays on ecclesiology and feminism making it a far ranging summary of her interests and contributions to theology over the past four decades Publisher

are relevant for a variety of circumstances

Ecclesiology and Exclusion Dennis Michael Doyle, Timothy J. Furry, Pascal D. Bazzell, 2012 Ecclesiology and other experts from around the world address various forms of exclusion in the Catholic Church. These essays address the many forms of exclusion in churches around the world with a major focus on the Roman Catholic Church but also addressing exclusion in other churches. Topics included are exclusion of marginal people, exclusion and racial justice, exclusion and gender, exclusion and sacramental practices, and exclusion and ecumenical reality. Contributors include Paul Lakeland, Gerard Mannion, A. E. Orobaton, Bryan Massingale, Phyllis Zagano, Neil Ormerod, Bradford Hinze, Mary McClintock Fulkerson, and Susan K. Wood among others.

The Wisdom of the Cross Stanley Hauerwas, Chris K. Huebner, Harry J. Huebner, Mark Thiessen, Nation, 2005-05-26. Few recent Christian thinkers have been as widely influential as John Howard Yoder. 1927-1997. Encompassing a teaching career of more than thirty years and such landmark publications as The Politics of Jesus, Yoder's life and thought have profoundly impacted students and colleagues from a broad range of disciplines. In the words of Stanley Hauerwas, Yoder is probably the major theologian-ethicist of this half century in America and certainly the leading Mennonite theologian of the twentieth century. The Wisdom of the Cross is the only book to provide valuable secondary essays engaging Yoder's central theological concerns together with a biographical reflection on his life and legacy. Written by scholars both from within and outside of Yoder's Mennonite community, these essays develop the most significant aspects of Yoder's thought from his powerful defense of Christian pacifism to his seminal analysis of the politics of Jesus to his challenging contributions to Christian social ethics, ecclesiology, and theological method. The book also includes a previously unpublished essay on moral absolutes by Yoder himself. A fitting tribute to Yoder's distinguished career, this volume will be useful to readers new to Yoder's work and to those wishing to probe more deeply into the implications of his thought.

Communities of Restoration Thomas Noakes-Duncan, 2019-04-18. By bringing together the insights of ecclesial ethics, an approach that emphasizes the distinctive nature of the church as the community that forms its mind and character after its reading of Scripture with the theory and practice of restorative justice, a way of conceiving justice making that emerged from the Mennonite Anabaptist tradition, this book shows why a theological account of the theory and practice of restorative justice is fruitful for articulating and clarifying the witness of the church, especially when faced with conflict or wrongdoing. This can help extend the church's imagination as to how it might better become God's community of restoration as it reflects on the ways in which the justice of God is taking shape in its own community. How does an ecclesial context shape the theological apprehension and praxis of justice? This question orientates the book. In particular, it asks how, in view of its members having been admitted into God's restoring justice in Christ, the church might embody in the world this same justice of restoring right relationships. While Christian reflection on the nature of justice has tended to favour a judicial and retributive conception of justice, it will be argued that the biblical understanding of the justice of God is best understood as a saving, liberating, and restorative justice. It is this restorative conception that ought to guide the community that reads

Scripture so that it might be embodied in life
