Jet Engine Test Cell:

Jet Engine Test Cell Noise Reduction C. A. Kodres, 2000-08-01 Passive methods for decreasing jet engine test cell noise emissions are evaluated and compared. Such methods have the dual advantages of low cost and simplicity. In addition, the effect on the aerothermal performance of the test cell is minimal. Sound pressure levels were measured in and around test facilities equipped with various devices to further reduce noise. The data were supplemented with parametric studies of noise reduction techniques conducted using a 1/20th scale physical model of the Navy's standard T-10 jet engine test cell. Methods that attack the noise problem from outside and methods that attack the problem from inside the test cell are assessed, including trees and other vegetation, acoustic walls, core busters, and modifications to the exhaust stack. Mounting screens in the path of the jet and increasing the height of the exhaust stack are found to be the most effective. Jet Engine Test Cells

Morse, 1962 Jet Engine Mechanic (AFSC 42652): Operation and adjustment of jet engines Ray M. Paddock, 1985 Improved Acoustical Treatment for Engine Test Stands John T. Welbourn, 1963 This report summarizes an investigation and test of improved materials, noise control devices, and methods of application to engine test stands for the purpose of reducing radiated noise and increasing structural durability. Included are excerpts from an acoustical survey of a modified test stand and a full report of the acoustical evaluation of experimental exhaust units for a Transportable Turbojet Engine Test Stand. Experimental work was performed at Wright Patterson Air Force Base, Ohio. Author: NAVDOCKS, 1962 Modeling Techniques for Jet Engine Test Cell Aerodynamics EG-1E Gas Turbine Test Facilities and Equipment, 2009 This SAE Aerospace Information Report AIR has been written for individuals associated with ground level testing of turbofan and turbojet engines and particularly for those who might be interested in investigating the performance characteristics of a new test cell design or of proposed modifications to an existing test cell by means of a scale model test. Revision based on the 5 Year Review Noise Control for Aircraft Engine Test Cells and Ground Run-up Suppressors, 1961 Preliminary Report: Jet Engine Test Cell Emissions Ronald D. Burnett, ENVIRONMENTAL HEALTH LAB MCCLELLAN AFB CALIF., 1970 The report presents published jet engine emission data, test cell emission data collected at McClellan AFB during the operation of a J-57 turbojet engine at idle conditions, and discusses problems involved in sampling test cell emissions. It was concluded that the variability of existing data indicates a need for a more refined study of jet engine pollutant emission rates. Author Modified Abstract Naval Aviation News, 1967

Influence of Noise Control Components and Structures on Turbojet Engine Testing and Aircraft Ground Operation

Bonard E. Morse, 1962 There has been a need for summarizing and establishing adequate aerodynamic and thermodynamic design criteria for turbojet engine test cells and ground run up suppressors. These criteria are discussed and their uses are illustrated by examples of typical design problem solutions. The presence of noise suppression structures can have significant influences upon the operation of the turbojet engine These influences are enumerated and evaluated with recommendations for establishing maximum acceptable effects Typical test cell configurations are presented and design criteria are established for providing noise suppression facilities which may be utilized for testing a full size aircraft or an engine by itself These facilities can be either permanent structures or portable units Aircraft Yearbook ,1970 Boeing Magazine ,1948
