KC-4.1.1.A In the early 1800s, national political parties continued to debate issues such as the tariff, powers of the federal government, and relations with European powers.	In the early 1800s, the United States experienced intense policy debates which were influenced by ideological differences between the Federalists and Democratic-Republicans. These issues included disputes over tariffs, where the North favored protective measures for young female workers while the South opposed them, leading to tensions. The federal government was another issue where the Federalist advocated for a strong central government and Democratic Republicans calling for state rights. The debates over issues of the relations with European powers shaped foreign policy, which had an impact on events such as the Embargo Act of 1807. Overall, all these debates lead to transformation for the young nations, creating the two-party system and the creation of policies which affected American government and politics.
