Reading Gothic Fiction Jacqueline Howard, 1994 Dr Howard uses Bakhtin s concepts of heteroglossia and dialogism in specific historical analyses of key works of the genre Her discussions of Ann Radcliffe's Mysteries of Udolpho, Matthew Lewis's The Monk, Jane Austen's Northanger Abbey and Mary Shelley's Frankenstein demonstrate that the discursive ambiguity of these novels is not inherently subversive but that the political force of particular discourses is contingent upon their interaction with other discourses in the reading process

When enthusiastic readers and fans around the globe think of Sherlock Holmes they do not necessarily associate the stories of the detective with Gothic fiction Holmes is rather linked to be the supreme example of the classic detective story Ever since the first Sherlock Holmes story A Study in Scarlet has been published numerous adaptations such as theatre plays films and a recent BBC series followed Adding scholarly texts to the adaptations one can certainly argue that most of the publications deal with Holmes in his role as a detective Thus Nils Clausson claims that the myth of the scientific detective was born

Certainly it is more likely to associate Sherlock Holmes with crime fiction than with vampires or zombies However Gothic fiction is far too complex to reduce the term only to this associations Thus the purpose of this seminar paper is to lay the focus on Gothic elements and detective fiction in one particular Sherlock Holmes story The Hound of the Baskervilles Hence the structure of the paper will be as follows In the first chapter the paper will be concerned with the term Gothic This implies an attempt to both define as well as limit the notion to Gothic fiction Moreover the paper deals with common motifs or features of the classic Gothic fiction which developed in the 18th century In the next sub chapter the paper sets the focus on the so called Gothic revival which occurred in the late Victorian era of the 19th century As it is of peculiar interest for The Hound of the Baskervilles some characteristics of the late Victorian Gothic will be implied The third and the fourth chapter will illustrate the main aspects of the paper Subdivided into characters setting and plot the third chapter will discuss some Gothic elements in The Hound of the Baskervilles Could The Hound of the Baskervilles either be considered as Gothic fiction or a detective story Based on this question the paper will incorporate several scientific statements to find an answer Finally the paper will give a conclusion as well as a bibliography
