A Comparison of Online Shopping Behavior of American and German Consumers Silke Kühn, 2010 Diploma Thesis from the year 2004 in the subject Business economics Marketing Corporate Communication CRM Market Research Social Media grade 2 7 University of Duisburg Essen language English abstract A profound shift in the economy is underway the industrial age economy is rapidly giving way to the Internet age economy 1 Four years after the New Economy crash the Internet Economy is booming and hopes that mobile offers will further increase the speed 2 With the number of online sales for goods and services increasing every day 3 online shopping with sales growth rates outpacing traditional retailing purchases has become one of the fastest growing forms of shopping⁴ The statement above explains the reason why the term Electronic Commerce has kept both business research and business practice as occupied as barely any other term in the last years⁵ Warren D Raisch writes about this shift in the economy that the global development and acceptance of the Internet as the new standard for communication and commerce provides us with a powerful new global Internet based E Business network⁶ Realizing that we live in a global marketplace with international trade⁷ additionally pushed by the Internet companies face a stronger competition and the need to create more value for customers than their competitors In this context it is important for companies to realize that through the Internet there is a power shift to the customer Furthermore as customers will demand and tolerate only delighting buying experiences it is a necessity to capture and analyze information about buying behavior in the 21st century business⁸ When talking about E Commerce which is a part of Electronic Business E Business describing the sale of goods and services via the Internet targeting a mass market⁹ the following two areas have to be differentiated Business to Customer B2C E Commerce meaning the settlement of buying contracts between a commer
