

- Consumable activities
- Consumable activities are the ones that will reduce the nation's income. They produce a net outflow of resources.
- These activities are divided into:
  - Primary sector: It includes activities like agriculture, fishing, hunting etc.
  - Secondary Sector: It includes manufacturing and extraction.
  - Tertiary sector: It includes activities like transport, servicing, trading etc.
- All consumable activities are profitable due to the fact that they make contributions to consumable savings. However, society might not offer savings to individuals, activities which give demand as compensation to people who produce them are known as Welfare activities. Because they do not include the flow of any value beyond or profit. Government activities, production of goods for sale, and consumption of energy. These welfare activities do not provide the individual an income. They are done for self-consumption. The income is given, holding a house (don't count for demand), a house getting ready to be sold, etc.
- The non-market activities done by members are not paid, hence are included as net zero income. However, if this activity, like cooking, is performed for someone then it can be included.
- Education and skills of a person decrease from his own work, as skilled people can perform better work than a person without any skills. However, generally, there are skills and their education that is not self-paid but wages.
