Rural Livelihood Systems A Conceptual Framework:

Rural livelihood systems: Conceptual framework. Niehof, A.,2001 Participatory Research and Development for Sustainable Agriculture and Natural Resource Management Julian F. Gonsalves,2005 Intended for aspiring and new practitioners of Participatory Research and Development PR D as well as field based researchers in developing countries Highlights that agricultural research and development has become a joint approach to deal with diverse biophysical environments multiple livelihood goals rapid changes in local and global economies and an expanded range for stakeholders over agriculture and natural resources The role of genetic resources in rural livelihood systems. Almekinders, C.,2001

The Economics of Agro-Chemicals G.A.A. Wossink,G.C. van Kooten,G.H. Peters,2018-12-20 Published in 1998 This book provides a global overview of agrochemical use against the backdrop of future agricultural production requirements and environmental concerns From acknowledged experts in their field this book examines the relationship between agro chemical use and sustainability producer knowledge and policy analysis for less developed and industrialized economies

Organic Farming for Sustainable Livelihoods in Developing Countries? Frank Eyhorn,2007 Organic farming has experienced considerable growth not only in industrialized countries Is it primarily an approach to safeguard consumer health and the environment or can it also contribute to poverty reduction in developing countries Drawing on 3 years of research on organic cotton farms in the Maikaal bioRe project in central India this book assesses the potential and the constraints of organic farming for improving rural livelihoods It further integrates lessons learnt in other organic cotton projects in Asia and Africa making it the presently most in depth and comprehensive work on the socio economic impact of organic farming in a developing country The research builds on a conceptual frame that allows investigating rural livelihoods in a holistic and interdisciplinary way The book not only addresses scientists in the fields of rural development and tropical farming systems but also provides recommendations for practitioners and policy makers Dr Frank Eyhorn s research on organic cotton grown in the central state of India is a pioneering work It paves the way for the possibility of chemical free environment and health friendly sustainable farming involving lower costs and yielding higher returns to the farmers The model is capable of being replicated globally Sri Sompal former Chairman of the National Commission for Farmers and Minister of State for Agriculture and Water Resources India That the organic production of cotton provides benefits not only for the environment and human health but also for the socio economic situation of farmers is the main message of this well documented comparative study of conventional and organic farming It is a significant and motivating message for furthering the use of organic production methods in developing countries Dr Joan S Davis Environmental Chemist Eawag Swiss Federal Institute of Aquatic Sciences Technology In Search of Sustainable Livelihood Systems Ruedi Baumgartner,Rudolf Högger,2004-08-30 Livelihood systems are more than sets of material and economic conditions They cater to a number of human needs The contributors to this volume maintain that a livelihood system embraces not just economic conditions for physical subsistence but provides material continuity and cultural meaning to the life of a family Agriculture and a Changing Environment in Northeastern India Sumi Krishna, 2020-11-29 India's northeastern region forged by a unique geological history and peopled by several waves of migration is extraordinarily complex. Farming systems in the hills and the riverine plains are embedded in a heterogeneous environment comprising forests, wetlands, and fields shaped over centuries by nature and people. Today the environment and economy are undergoing rapid transformation affecting people's lives, livelihoods, and methods of food production. The essays in this volume bring a multi-disciplinary perspective to critical aspects of the process of agricultural change, examine the gender dimensions of agriculture, and explore initiatives for sustainable livelihood and ecological conservation. Part I analyses the impact of policies and people's own aspirations on the closely intertwined ecology and economy of the region. Part II discusses the gender dynamics of farming, forestry, and biodiversity in a socio-cultural context where women are primarily responsible for food production. Part III highlights some alternative farming interventions and community-based efforts for environmental conservation, sustainable resource management, and improved livelihoods. This book will be useful to scholars and students of agriculture, economics, development, environment, and gender studies, and to those involved in policy analysis, natural resource management, and community organisation, as also general readers interested in India's northeastern region. Agriculture and Human Values, 2008 Economics of Agro-chemicals International Association of Agricultural Economists. Conference, 1998. Inventories and overviews for different areas of the world. Agro-chemicals use and sustainable agriculture. Efficiency and producers' knowledge and perceptions. Determinants of fertilizer and pesticide use. Policy instruments and policy analysis. LDCs. Policy instruments and policy analysis. Industrialized countries. Perspectives for the 21st century. Ropewalking and Safety Nets Juliette Koning, Frans Hüsken, 2006. In this volume anthropologists and sociologists address the issue of changing forms of local social security in Indonesia, pointing to increasingly exclusivist tendencies that leave the poor and weak out. It provides rich data from case studies in urban and rural Java. Transforming Food Systems in Latin America and the Caribbean: Increasing Sustainability, Resilience and Adaptation to Climate Change Leida Y. Mercado, Fernando Casanoves, Graciela Mónica Rusch, Mark Van Wijk, Jacques Avelino, 2025-05-07. The Latin America and the Caribbean (LAC) region is highly vulnerable to extreme weather and climate events. LAC food systems are easily disrupted by such events, resulting in food insecurity, increased vulnerability, poverty aggravation, and migration. Additionally, unsustainable food systems in the LAC are one of the main drivers of environmental degradation, including water contamination and scarcity and biodiversity loss, therefore compromising the delivery of ecosystem services (ES) that are critical to transforming these systems towards sustainability. Toward the end of the 20th century, climate pattern changes such as the increased frequency of extended dry spells have become common across the LAC region, negatively impacting agricultural production, economies, and jeopardizing food security. This has resulted in an increased number of people facing hunger across the region. To face and adapt to these environmental changes it is necessary to promote food systems transformation This transformation will ensure that food systems become more diversified sustainable inclusive allowing access to nutritious and affordable food to everyone healthier promoting changes in consumption patterns and more resilient and adaptive to climate change This Research Topic aims to gather diverse and interdisciplinary views on current food systems in LAC by using a systematic approach to analyze the biodiversity and ecosystem services food production as well as the economic social cultural and political aspects that are key for the functioning of said systems We are particularly interested in proposals for solutions aimed at transforming LAC food systems to become better adapted to the changing climate more diversified sustainably intensified and profitable Nature based solutions to achieve the needed transformations are particularly welcome In addition this Research Topic looks to provide solid evidence to support decision making at various levels across the LAC region from small landholders and businesses to policymakers
