1	Lesson 1: Project Overview	The project overview is a critical component of project management. It provides a high-level overview of the project's goals, objectives, and scope.	Ensure that the project overview is clear, concise, and easy to understand. It should be updated regularly as the project progresses.
2	Lesson 2: Project Planning	Project planning is a key component of project management. It involves defining the project's scope, objectives, and deliverables, and creating a detailed project plan.	Ensure that the project plan is realistic and achievable. It should be updated regularly as the project progresses.
3	Lesson 3: Project Execution	Project execution is the phase of the project where the project plan is put into action. It involves managing the project's resources, risks, and communication.	Ensure that the project is executed according to the project plan. It should be monitored closely to ensure that the project is on track.
4	Lesson 4: Project Monitoring	Project monitoring is the phase of the project where the project's progress is tracked and reported. It involves collecting data, analyzing it, and reporting on the project's status.	Ensure that the project is monitored regularly. It should be reported on a regular basis to the project sponsor and other stakeholders.
5	Lesson 5: Project Evaluation	Project evaluation is the phase of the project where the project's performance is assessed. It involves comparing the project's actual performance against the project plan and identifying areas for improvement.	Ensure that the project is evaluated at the end of the project. It should be used to identify lessons learned and improve future projects.
6	Lesson 6: Project Closure	Project closure is the final phase of the project where the project is formally closed. It involves finalizing all project activities, releasing resources, and archiving project documents.	Ensure that the project is closed properly. It should be documented and the project team should be recognized for their contributions.
7	Lesson 7: Project Communication	Project communication is a key component of project management. It involves keeping all project stakeholders informed and engaged throughout the project.	Ensure that communication is clear, consistent, and timely. It should be tailored to the needs of each stakeholder.
8	Lesson 8: Project Risk Management	Project risk management is the process of identifying, assessing, and responding to project risks. It involves identifying potential risks, assessing their impact, and developing strategies to mitigate them.	Ensure that risks are identified early and managed proactively. It should be a continuous process throughout the project.
9	Lesson 9: Project Resource Management	Project resource management is the process of identifying, acquiring, and managing the resources needed for the project. It involves identifying the resources required, estimating their availability, and allocating them to the project.	Ensure that resources are managed effectively. It should be monitored closely to ensure that the project has the resources it needs to succeed.
10	Lesson 10: Project Quality Management	Project quality management is the process of ensuring that the project meets the quality requirements of the project. It involves identifying quality requirements, planning quality, and controlling quality.	Ensure that quality is managed throughout the project. It should be a key focus of the project and not just an afterthought.
11	Lesson 11: Project Stakeholder Management	Project stakeholder management is the process of identifying, understanding, and engaging the stakeholders who are affected by the project. It involves identifying stakeholders, understanding their interests, and developing strategies to engage them.	Ensure that stakeholders are managed effectively. It should be a key focus of the project and not just an afterthought.
12	Lesson 12: Project Procurement Management	Project procurement management is the process of identifying, acquiring, and managing the resources needed for the project. It involves identifying the resources required, estimating their availability, and allocating them to the project.	Ensure that procurement is managed effectively.
