Design at Home Grace Lees Maffei, 2013-12-17. Domestic advice literature is rich in information about design ideals, domesticity, consumption, and issues of identity, yet this literature remains a relatively neglected resource in comparison with magazines and film. Design at Home brings together etiquette, homemaking, and home decoration advice as sources in the first systematic demonstration of the historical value of domestic advice literature as a genre of word and image and a discourse of dominance. This book traces a transatlantic domestic dialogue between the UK and the US as the chapters explore issues of design, domesticity, consumption, social interaction, and identity markers, including class, gender, and age. Areas covered include the use of domestic advice by historians, relationships between advice, housing, and the middle class, links between advice and gender, advice, and the teenage consumer. Design at Home is essential reading for students and scholars of cultural and social history, design history, and cultural studies.
