Ma Jian Red Dust:

Red Dust Ma Jian, 2007-12-18 In 1983 at the age of thirty dissident artist Ma Jian finds himself divorced by his wife separated from his daughter betrayed by his girlfriend facing arrest for Spiritual Pollution and severely disillusioned with the confines of life in Beijing So with little more than a change of clothes and two bars of soap Ma takes off to immerse himself in the remotest parts of China His journey would last three years and take him through smog choked cities and mountain villages from scenes of barbarity to havens of tranquility Remarkably written and subtly moving the result is an insight into the teeming contradictions of China that only a man who was both insider and outsider in his own country could have written

Literary and Cultural Representations of the Hinterlands Ewa Kęblińska-Ławniczak, Dominika Ferens, Katarzyna Nowak-McNeice, Marcin Tereszewski, 2023-12-22 This interdisciplinary collection explores the diverse relationships between the frequently ignored and inherently ambiguous hinterlands and their manifestations in literature and culture Moving away from perspectives that emphasize the marginality of hinterlands and present them as devoid of agency and cultural currency this collection assembles a series of original essays using various modes of engagement to reconceptualize hinterlands and highlight their semiotic complexity Apart from providing a reassessment of hinterlands in terms of their geocultural significance this book also explores hinterlands through such concepts as nostalgia heterotopia identity formation habitation and cognitive mapping with reference to a wide geographical field Literary and filmic revisions of familiar hinterlands such as the Australian outback Alberta prairie and Arizona desert are juxtaposed in this volume with representations of such little known European hinterlands as Lower Silesia and Ukraine and the complicated political dimension of First World War internment camps is investigated with regard to Kapuskasing Ontario Rural China and the Sussex Downs are examined here as writers retreats Inner city hinterlands in Haiti India Morocco and urban New Jersey take on new meaning when contrasted with the vast hinterlands of megacities like Johannesburg and Los Angeles The spectrum of diverse approaches to hinterlands helps to reinforce their multilayered and multivocal nature as spaces that defy clear categorization

The Dark Road Ma Jian, 2013-06-13 From one of world literature's most courageous voices a novel about the human cost of China's one child policy through the lens of one rural family on the run from its reach Far away from the Chinese economic miracle from the bright lights of Beijing and Shanghai is a vast rural hinterland where life goes on much as it has for generations with one extraordinary difference normal parents are permitted by the state to have only a single child The Dark Road is the story of one such normal family Meili a young peasant woman her husband Kongzi a village schoolteacher and their daughter Nannan Kongzi is according to family myth a direct lineal descendant of Confucius and he is haunted by the imperative to carry on the family name by having a son And so Meili becomes pregnant again without state permission and when local family planning officials launch a new wave of crackdowns the family makes the radical decision to leave its village and set out on a small rickety houseboat down the Yangtze River There is a dark road and tragedy awaits them and horror but also the fierce beauty born of courageous resistance to injustice and inhumanity The Dark Road is a haunting and indelible portrait of the tragedies befalling women and families at the hands of China's one child policy and of the human spirit's capacity to endure even the most brutal cruelty While Ma Jian wrote The Dark Road he traveled through the rural backwaters of southwestern China to see how the state enforced the one child policy far from the outside world's prying eyes He met local women who had been seized from their homes and forced to undergo abortions or sterilization in the policy's name and on the Yangtze River he lived among fugitive couples who had gone on the run so they could have more children that most fundamental of human rights Like all of Ma Jian's novels The Dark Road is also a celebration of the life force of the often comically stubborn resilience of man's most basic instincts
