Translations Brian Friel, 1981 The action takes place in late August 1833 at a hedge school in the townland of Baile Beag an Irish speaking community in County Donegal In a nearby field camps a recently arrived detachment of the Royal Engineers making the first Ordnance Survey For the purposes of cartography the local Gaelic place names have to be recorded and rendered into English In examining the effects of this operation on the lives of a small group Brian Friel skillfully reveals the far reaching personal and cultural effects of an action which is at first sight purely administrative

The theme of language in Brian Friel's Translations Silvia Dreiling, 2019-09-17 Seminar paper from the year 2015 in the subject Didactics for the subject English Literature Works grade 2 0 University of Salzburg language English abstract The Irish history is a history of disempowerment The invasion by the English triggered a decline of Irish history and language which resulted in a rise of English power However the English have not been able to gain full control over Ireland and the Irish defended their land not only physically but also verbally through literature This struggle for power is represented in Brian Friel s Translations The play takes place in 1833 a time of the first Ordnance Survey and emergence of the new National Schools the action happens at a hedge school in a small Irish speaking community where no English is taught or thought to be important Nevertheless throughout the story the English language becomes more and more dominant as English soldiers arrive the mapping of Ireland becomes central or the national schools were simply responding to the needs of the times Language plays not only a significant role in the story but is also a powerful element In Translations a power shift is represented through the change in the use of and the attitude towards language as well as through the process of language substitution This paper discusses these changes in relation to the element of power within Ireland another English is presented in the play as a predictable consequence of at least three forces Firstly the establishment of the National School System secondly the utility to learn English thirdly the perhaps strongest force presented as a powerful metaphor the ordnance survey The subsequent interpretations are rather based on character readings Sarah the mute hedge school student is of special interest because she represents the close connection between name and identity Owen the hedge school teacher s younger son has to be paid closer attention to because of his deliberately performed mistranslation After considering Yolland s realistic articulation of the concealed cultural divide that separates him from the people of Baile Beag Hugh s remarks about language will be addressed
