Economic Analysis William H. Greene, 1992-02 For courses in Applied Econometrics Political Methodology and Sociological Methods or a one year graduate course in Econometrics for social scientists This text introduces applied econometrics and presents the theoretical background

Econometric Analysis of Cross Section and Panel Data, second edition Jeffrey M. Wooldridge, 2010-10-01 The second edition of a comprehensive state of the art graduate level text on microeconomic methods substantially revised and updated The second edition of this acclaimed graduate text provides a unified treatment of two methods used in contemporary econometric research cross section and data panel methods By focusing on assumptions that can be given behavioral content the book maintains an appropriate level of rigor while emphasizing intuitive thinking The analysis covers both linear and nonlinear models including models with dynamics and or individual heterogeneity In addition to general estimation frameworks particular methods of moments and maximum likelihood specific linear and nonlinear methods are covered in detail including probit and logit models and their multivariate Tobit models models for count data censored and missing data schemes causal or treatment effects and duration analysis

Econometric Analysis of Cross Section and Panel Data was the first graduate econometrics text to focus on microeconomic data structures allowing assumptions to be separated into population and sampling assumptions This second edition has been substantially updated and revised

Improvements include a broader class of models for missing data problems more detailed treatment of cluster problems an important topic for empirical researchers expanded discussion of generalized instrumental variables GIV estimation new coverage based on the author's own recent research of inverse probability weighting a more complete framework for estimating treatment effects with panel data and a firmly established link between econometric approaches to nonlinear panel data and the generalized estimating equation literature popular in statistics and other fields New attention is given to explaining when particular econometric methods can be applied the goal is not only to tell readers what does work but why certain obvious procedures do not The numerous included exercises both theoretical and computer based allow the reader to extend methods covered in the text and discover new insights

Graduate students and researchers are provided with an up to date survey of statistical and econometric techniques for the analysis of count data with a focus on conditional distribution models Proper count data probability models allow for rich inferences both with respect to the stochastic count process that generated the data and with respect to predicting the distribution of outcomes The book starts with a presentation of the benchmark Poisson regression model Alternative models address unobserved heterogeneity state dependence selectivity endogeneity underreporting and clustered sampling Testing and estimation is discussed from frequentist and Bayesian perspectives Finally applications are reviewed in fields such as economics marketing sociology demography and health sciences The fourth edition contains several new sections for example on nonnested hurdle models quantile regression and on software Many other sections have been entirely rewritten and extended

Econometric Analysis of Panel Data Badi Baltagi,2008-06-30

Written by one of the world's leading researchers and writers in the field Econometric Analysis of Panel Data has become established as the leading textbook for postgraduate courses in panel data This new edition reflects the rapid developments in the field covering the vast research that has been conducted on panel data since its initial publication Featuring the most recent empirical examples from panel data literature data sets are also provided as well as the programs to implement the estimation and testing procedures described in the book These programs will be made available via an accompanying website which will also contain solutions to end of chapter exercises that will appear in the book The text has been fully updated with new material on dynamic panel data models and recent results on non linear panel models and in particular work on limited dependent variables panel data models

Computational Econometrics Charles G. Renfro,2004

This publication contains a substantial amount of detail about the broad history of the development of econometric software based on the personal recollections of many people For economists the computer has increasingly become the primary applied research tool and it is software that makes the computer work

The Econometric Analysis of Non-Stationary Spatial Panel Data Michael Beenstock,Daniel Felsenstein,2019-03-27

This monograph deals with spatially dependent nonstationary time series in a way accessible to both time series econometricians wanting to understand spatial econometrics and spatial econometricians lacking a grounding in time series analysis After charting key concepts in both time series and spatial econometrics the book discusses how the spatial connectivity matrix can be estimated using spatial panel data instead of assuming it to be exogenously fixed This is followed by a discussion of spatial nonstationarity in spatial cross section data and a full exposition of non stationarity in both single and multi equation contexts including the estimation and simulation of spatial vector autoregression VAR models and spatial error correction ECM models The book reviews the literature on panel unit root tests and panel cointegration tests for spatially independent data and for data that are strongly spatially dependent It provides for the first time critical values for panel unit root tests and panel cointegration tests when the spatial panel data are weakly or spatially dependent The volume concludes with a discussion of incorporating strong and weak spatial dependence in non stationary panel data models All discussions are accompanied by empirical testing based on a spatial panel data of house prices in Israel
