

CHAPTER FIVE

RESEARCH DESIGN AND METHODOLOGY

5.1. Introduction

This chapter discusses in detail the methodological choice and the research design process of the study. It has mainly relied on the philosophical stance and the research problem to guide on the methodological choice. More, specifically, it explains why explanatory sequential mixed methods research approach is considered appropriate for the research. In addition, the chapter set the procedures to collect, analyze and report data. It has used separate procedures for the quantitative and qualitative approach as both encompass distinct purpose to serve. Besides, the approaches implemented to enhance the validity and reliability of the studies are also explained in detail. Finally, the chapter defines procedural issues of the research including the timing, weighting and integration decisions of the study along with pointing considerations for ethical issues.

5.2. Research Design

A research design is the 'procedures for collecting, analyzing, interpreting and reporting data in research studies' (Creswell & Plano Clark 2007, p.58). It is the overall plan for connecting the conceptual research problems with the pertinent (and achievable) empirical research. In other words, the research design sets the procedure on the required data, the methods to be applied to collect and analyze this data, and how all of this is going to answer the research question (Grey, 2014). As explained by Robson (2002), there are three possible forms of research design: exploratory, descriptive and explanatory. His base of classification relies on the purpose of the research area as each design serves a different end purpose. For instance, the purpose of a descriptive study is to provide a picture of a situation, person or event or show how things are related to each other and as it naturally occurs (Blumberg, Cooper and Schindler, 2005). However, descriptive studies cannot explain why an event has occurred and is much suitable for a relatively new or unexplored research area (Punch, 2005). Therefore, in situation of abundant descriptive information, alternative research designs such as explanatory or exploratory approach is advisable.

in social network to get some approvals and or admiration measuring in likes Many scientists worldwide claim that such a habit may root in much deeper reason than just the age of technology and even assign it to personal complexes Deriving from the childhood those complexes cause in the chronicle narcissism which is dramatically increasing in people of modern society

Completing Your Qualitative Dissertation Linda Dale Bloomberg, Marie Volpe, 2015-11-05 Addressing one of the key challenges facing doctoral students Completing Your Qualitative Dissertation by Linda Dale Bloomberg and Marie Volpe fills a gap in qualitative literature by offering comprehensive guidance and practical tools for navigating each step in the qualitative dissertation journey including the planning research and writing phases Blending the conceptual theoretical and practical the book becomes a dissertation in action a logical and cohesive explanation and illustration of content and process The Third Edition maintains key features that distinguish its unique approach and has been thoroughly updated and expanded throughout to reflect and address recent developments in the field Development of a new competence and behaviour model for skills in working with people for project managers Eddie Fisher, 2008-06-10 Doctoral Thesis Dissertation from the year 2006 in the subject Business economics Business Management Corporate Governance The Open University Open University Milton Keynes United Kingdom language English abstract The growing penetration of projects as a way of organising work in many organisations has created a shortcoming between what companies expect in terms of project delivery and the way in which their project managers execute projects The constantly changing demands have created a need for project managers to manage the people in their projects more effectively to meet these expectations A review of the general and project management literature has revealed that a shortcoming exists and the nature of this shortcoming What used to be appropriate skills in working with people are no longer adequate now that working practices are changing in response to increases in pressures to achieve better results This thesis has developed a competence and behaviour model for skills in working with people for project managers that provides the means to fill the shortcoming The exploration to develop this model has taken place mainly through interviews with project managers from the community of practice in United Kingdom organisations supplemented by the participatory research observations of the researcher as a practising project management professional The research focus was on the impact humans make in the activities of project management within a socially constructed world The research considered competences and behaviours of skills in working with people for project managers and therefore had to deal with the meaning that people put on their observations As a consequence their descriptions have been collected analysed and interpreted by applying a constructivist interpretivist approach within a phenomenological research paradigm The results from this study are of interest to both academics and the community of practice in project management The new competence and behaviour model of skills in working with people for project managers can be incorporated in future editions of bodies of knowledge such as those promoted by the PMI APM or IPMA and other people competence models in the area of general management Overcoming Project Management Problems

Adult Language Learning: Insights, Instructions And Implications Shamim Ali, 2011 Master's Thesis from the year 2006 in the subject Pedagogy Adult Education National University of Modern Languages Islamabad English Department course Research Project language English abstract The present study aims to investigate that age is not a detriment to language learning As young students are biologically disposed to better second language learning as well as given certain benefits such as lower self monitor and affective filter but at the same time adults are also not at a lower vantage point in L2 learning process In the language learning program adult learners bring with them certain advantages Adults are better at understanding grammatical rules since they are aware of the rules and structures in their own language Especially in the areas of vocabulary and language structure adults are actually better language learners than children Adult learners have more highly developed cognitive systems are able to make higher order associations and generalizations and can integrate new language input with their already substantial learning experience They also rely on long term memory rather than the short term memory function used by children and younger learners for rote learning Adults have already developed learning strategies that have served them well in other contexts They can use these strategies to their advantage in language learning This research will suggest ways of dealing better with adult learners in their academic performance in the language class The researchers aim will be to investigate that they have potentials to become accomplished language learners with the advantage of more advanced cognitive development in the first language and they integrate new language input with their already substantial learning experience To prove her point of view the researcher will involve 10 teachers and 30 students of Diploma Certificate and Foundation level at the Department of English functional Courses at National U

Optimum Capital Structure Lutfa Ferdous,2019-05-23 Thesis M A from the year 2009 in the subject Business economics Economic Policy grade M B A University of Dhaka course Master of Finance language English abstract Capital structure is one of the most converse and vital issues both in finance literature and practical research This research deals with the theoretical and empirical aspects of capital structure decision It is observed that the determination of debt ratio is subtle and sophisticated to determine and its estimation is still a matter of debate and yet there is no entirely satisfactory theoretical model for forecasting the optimal debt ratio in the firm s capital structure There is little consensus on how firms choose their capital structure and how the firm specific factors influence the shape of the capital structure This research develops a link between theory and practice of capital structure This study has supported a set of sample firms to show the impact of six factors determinants on the financial leverage and how they comply with the findings derived by different previous theories regarding these factors Least Square method has been used to assess the influence of defined explanatory variables on the capital structure by using the dataset of Bangladeshi manufacturing firms for the period 2000 to 2004 Out of Six examined explanatory variables agency equity agency debt Bankruptcy profitability are statistically significant determinants of financial leverage Otherwise growth rate and operating leverage are found to be insignificant Agency equity agency debt bankruptcy operating leverage profitability growth rate all these are showing a negative relation with the dependent variable Also this paper suggests that the institutional context and macroeconomic events play an essential role in the capital structure decisions of Bangladeshi companies It would seem appropriate that further research should focus on the role played by the institutional framework such as the impact of taxation the practice of good corporate governance legal and regulatory structure
