During the course of this workshop, students receive feedback on their progress in learning Spanish. This includes not only written (paper) feedback, shared with students in writing and speaking, but also oral feedback from the instructor. This is done through a variety of means, including the use of the instructor's own language, the use of the students' own language, and the use of the students' own language.

In 2011, the Spanish course was redesigned to be more comprehensive, more fun, and more relevant to students. This redesign took place over a year, during which time the course was piloted in several schools. The redesign was based on a variety of factors, including the need to provide a more comprehensive and relevant learning experience for students.
