

Stanza I (Lines 1-11)

Lines 1-2

In Xanadu did Kubla Khan

A stately pleasure dome decree:

- Here's the famous opener.
- This line gets a lot of work done quickly. It introduces us to the title character (Kubla Khan), and begins to describe the amazing setting of the poem (Xanadu).
- That "stately pleasure dome decree" means that he had a really fancy and beautiful palace built.
- We want you to know right away that Coleridge is actually talking about a real place and a real guy.
- Kubla Khan was the grandson of the legendary Mongol conqueror Genghis Khan, and he built a summer palace (called Xanadu, in English) in Mongolia.
- Marco Polo visited Xanadu, and helped to start the legend of its magnificence.
- We're starting with actual history here, although by Coleridge's time Xanadu is already a bit of a legend.
- Keep this little historical nugget in mind, as you read. Does this feel like a real place and a real person? Or does it seem completely imaginary? Maybe a little of both?

Lines 3-5

Where Alph, the sacred river, ran

Through caverns measureless to man

Down to a sunless sea

- The speaker begins to describe the geography of Xanadu. He starts by introducing us to the River Alph.
- There's certainly no river in Mongolia by this name. Some scholars think that this is an allusion to the river Alpheus, a river in Greece that was made famous in classical literature.
- The name "Alph" might also make us think of the Greek letter "Alpha" which is the first letter of the Greek alphabet, and a symbol of beginnings.
- These associations, and the fact that the river has a name at all, really make the Alph stand out in the beginning of this poem.
- Notice how Coleridge is already stepping away from history: he is transforming this place, this person, and this story into his own creation.

Jack Stillinger

Kubla Khan Explanation Line Line:

The Narratological Analysis of Lyric Poetry Peter Hühn, Jens Kiefer, 2005 This study offers a fresh approach to the theory and practice of poetry criticism from a narratological perspective Arguing that lyric poems share basic constituents of narration with prose fiction namely temporal sequentiality of events and verbal mediation the authors propose the transgeneric application of narratology to the poetic genre with the aim of utilizing the sophisticated framework of narratological categories for a more precise and complex modeling of the poetic text On this basis the study provides a new impetus to the neglected field of poetic theory as well as to methodology The practical value of such an approach is then demonstrated by detailed model analyses of canonical English poems from all major periods between the 16th and the 20th centuries The comparative discussion of these analyses draws general conclusions about the specifics of narrative structures in lyric poetry in contrast to prose fiction

Reading The Eve of St. Agnes Jack Stillinger, 1999 Agnes Jack Stillinger examines the continuous inexhaustibility of this one poem theorizing about the reading process the nature and whereabouts of meaning in complex works and the connection between multiple meanings and canonical status in literature BOOK JACKET

Coleridge and Textual Instability Jack Stillinger, 1994-05-12 Jack Stillinger establishes and documents the existence of numerous different authoritative versions of Coleridge's best known poems sixteen or more of The Eolian Harp for example eighteen of The Rime of the Ancient Mariner and comparable numbers for This Lime Tree Bower Frost at Midnight Kubla Khan Christabel and Dejection An Ode Such multiplicity of versions raises interesting theoretical and practical questions about the constitution of the Coleridge canon the ontological identity of any specific work in the canon the editorial treatment of Coleridge's works and the ways in which multiple versions complicate interpretation of the poems as a unified or as the case may be disunified body of work Providing much new information about the texts and production of Coleridge's major poems Stillinger's study offers intriguing new theories about the nature of authorship and the constitution of literary works
