The Power of Instructional Routines Rebeca Itzkowich, Jie-Qi Chen, Anita Evans, Martha Pott, In this practical book teachers reveal how instruction and assessment can be two sides of the same coin through the implementation of four literacy and math routines for pre K to grade 3 Photo Chats Counting Collections Storytelling Story Acting and Numberless Word Problems These routines offer rich observational data for ongoing formative assessments such as those used for kindergarten entry They also provide embedded differentiation while offering teachers a window into their students' understanding These culturally and linguistically responsive routines are designed to spark curiosity build classroom community and foster habits of mind for lifelong learning transforming classrooms into dynamic thinking playgrounds These economical routines require minimal materials preparation and classroom time They have been field tested by over 250 public school teachers who use a wide range of curricula and work in urban rural and suburban settings with diverse students including English language learners This book demonstrates how these instructional routines worked for these teachers and how they can work for you too Book Features Authentic stories from nine public school kindergarten teachers about how they embraced the routines and noticed how learning blossomed for everyone Descriptions of the four instructional routines are clearly presented so that they are ready to be tried by other teachers Photographs of young children and their work samples with detailed descriptions and analysis from their teachers offering a glimpse into students' thinking An exploration of the value of implementing ongoing instructional routines that are grounded in state of the art research about language literacy and numeracy development within a multilingual framework A framework of notice and

SPIN Model Checking and Software Verification Klaus Havelund, John Penix, Willem Visser, 2006-12-31 The SPIN workshop is a forum for researchers interested in the subject of automata based explicit state model checking technologies for the analysis and verification of asynchronous concurrent and distributed systems The SPIN del checker <http://netlib.bell-labs.com/netlib/spin/whatispin.html> developed by Gerard Holzmann is one of the best known systems of this kind and has attracted a large user community This can likely be attributed to its efficient state exploration algorithms The fact that SPIN's modeling language Promela resembles a programming language has probably also contributed to its success Traditionally the SPIN workshops present papers on extensions and uses of SPIN As an experiment this year's workshop was broadened to have a slightly wider focus than previous workshops in that papers on software verification were encouraged Consequently a small collection of papers describe attempts to analyze and verify programs written in conventional programming languages Solutions include translations from source code to Promela as well as specially designed model checkers that accept source code We believe that this is an interesting research direction for the formal methods community and that it will result in a new set of challenges and solutions Of course abstraction becomes the key solution to deal with very large state spaces However we also see potential for integrating model checking with techniques such as static program analysis and testing Papers on these issues have therefore been included in the proceedings
