reflect on your own teaching practice and on your ideas of what literacy means for all learners Jamie a child with spinal muscular atrophy was Diane Parker s student from kindergarten through second grade In those three years Jamie s school experiences and her family s growing involvement with her learning supported the developing literacy that helped her cope with her increasingly critical handicap There are many participants here their voices and perspectives are represented in Jamie s own writings and especially in the unique parent child reading journal that contributed so much to her social and academic growth The story goes on to relate the unanticipated turn of events in Jamie s third grade year and how her literacy enabled her to deal with those events and to influence others as well Jamie brings you inside a classroom in which reflective teaching practice unquestionably empowered both the teacher and the students Jamie s story touches on a host of critical educational issues parent involvement inclusion assessment curriculum reform equity and justice for all learners It will not be forgotten
