Economy, C.575-c.867 Tony Abramson,2018 This book presents the author's digitization of Pirie's corpus of 9th century Northumbrian stycas This database enhanced by data from elsewhere is compared by location with the artefactual database known as VASLE created at the University of York 2008 to demonstrate that the co-occurrence of coins and portable artefacts defines monetary evolution in Northumbria Additionally the author presents a new periodization and reveals the previously disparaged gold shillings of York to have been issued by Bishop Paulinus a disruptive finding chronologically with wider consequences Northumbria benefited increasingly both monetarily and fiscally as the face value of coins fell Other conclusions include the idea that Northumbrian coin production was erratic that the Yorkshire Wolds were more highly monetized than the surrounding lowlands indicating a more enterprising culture that stycas hoards represent episcopal expropriations and that there were significant changes in settlement and economy in the central lowlands This work demonstrates that monetization reflected northern independence innovation and enterprise Back cover page 4 of cover
