Literature for Europe? Theo d'. Haen,2009 In Literature for Europe leading scholars from around Europe reflect on the role played by literature and by the study of literature in the constant re negotiation and re construction of cultural identities in Europe implied by the accession to the European Union in the early years of the twenty first century of fifteen new member states with the accession of a number of Balkan states impending and Turkey waiting in the wings while at the same time transatlantic relations of the EU to the USA are hotly debated in politics as in culture China and India awake as economic giants and globalization is upon us At the same time two of the earliest signatories to the treaties eventually leading to the European Union rejected a proposal for a European Constitution and linguistic religious and ethnic dividing lines show even in some of Europe s oldest nation states How do literary texts genres and forms thinking about them and teaching them respond to and shape ongoing processes of European self understanding in our era of globalization The volume seeks to answer these questions by charting key developments in a number of fields crucial to the emergence of a European common literary space literature and cultural value systems literature and cultural memory literary history translation the impact of the new media and the information age on matters of literature and identity and the impact of the postcolonial Literature for Europe is a thought provoking tour d horizon of cutting edge developments in the relationship between literary studies and the matter of Europe and suggesting an exciting agenda for literary studies in Europe It will be of interest to everyone working in European studies and or European literature

The Cultural Identities of European Cities Katia Pizzi,2010 Cities are both real and imaginary places whose identity is dependent on their distinctive heritage a network of historically transmitted cultural resources The essays in this volume which originate from a lecture series at the Institute of Germanic location between Eastern and Western ideologies religions and cultures and the fluidity and palimpsest quality of city identity Not only does the book provide different thematic angles and a variety of approaches to the investigation of city identity it also emphasizes the importance of diverse cultural components The essays presented here discuss cultural forms as various as music architecture literature journalism philosophy television film myths urban planning and the naming of streets
