Exploring Human Genetics

Genetics is the study of how traits are passed from parents to offspring. In this lab, you will explore the inheritance of a trait called "tongue rolling" (the ability to curl the tip of your tongue into a U-shape).

Procedure:

- Ask your partner if they can roll their tongue.
- Record the results in the table below.
- Repeat the experiment with a new partner.
- Continue until you have collected data from at least 10 different pairs of people.

Analysis:

Count the number of people who can roll their tongue (dominant trait) and the number who cannot (recessive trait). Use a Punnett square to determine the possible genotypes of the parents and the offspring.

Conclusion:

Summarize your findings and explain the results of your experiment. Did you observe any patterns in the inheritance of tongue rolling? How does this relate to the principles of genetics?
