since we can now execute code on endhosts and trust the results within the network Lastly we extend the user s trust one more step to encompass computations performed on a remote host e g in the cloud We design analyze and prove secure a protocol that allows a user to outsource arbitrary computations to commodity computers run by an untrusted remote party or parties who may subject the computers to both software and hardware attacks Our protocol guarantees that the user can both verify that the results returned are indeed the correct results of the specified computations on the inputs provided and protect the secrecy of both the inputs and outputs of the computations These guarantees are provided in a non interactive asymptotically optimal with respect to CPU and bandwidth manner Thus extending a user s trust via software hardware and cryptographic techniques allows us to provide strong security protections for both local and remote computations on sensitive data while still preserving the performance and features of commodity computers Demystifying Internet of Things Security Sunil Cheruvu,Anil Kumar,Ned Smith,David M.
