Representing Others Kate Sturge,2014-06-03 Cultural anthropology has always been dependent on translation as a textual practice and it has often used translation as a metaphor to describe ethnography s processes of interpretation and cross cultural comparison Questions of intelligibility and representation are central to both translation studies and ethnographic writing as are the dilemmas of cultural distance or proximity exoticism or appropriation Similarly recent work in museum studies discusses problems of representation that are raised by ethnographic museums as multimedia translations However as yet there has been remarkably little interdisciplinary exchange neither has translation studies kept up with the sophistication of anthropology s investigations of meaning representation and culture itself nor have anthropology and museum studies often looked to translation studies for analyses of language difference or concrete methods of tracing translation practices This book opens up an exciting field of study to translation scholars and suggests possible avenues of cross disciplinary collaboration Correlated Handwriting Frank Nugent Freeman,1927 The Annual County Courts
