corrective action or response      Development of a Method for Incorporating Fault Codes in Prognostic Analysis Eric Allen Strong,2014 Information from fault codes associated with a component may be used as an indicator of its health A fault code is defined as a timestamp at which a component is not operating according to recommended guidelines The type of fault codes which are relevant for this analysis represent mild or moderate deviations from normal behavior rather than those requiring immediate repair Potentially fault codes may be used to determine the Remaining Useful Life RUL of a component by predicting its failure time which will improve safety and reduce maintenance costs associated with the component In this dissertation methods have been developed to integrate the degradation information from fault codes into an existing prognostic parameter to improve the estimation of RUL Optimization methods such as gradient descent were used to weight each fault code based on their relevance to degradation Furthermore topic models a document analysis and clustering technique were used as both a dimension reduction method and fault mode isolation Methods developed for this dissertation were applied to two real world data sets an actuator system and monitored signals from a motor accelerated degradation experiment The best estimation of RUL for the actuator system was a topic model with a mean absolute error of 6 41% of the data received and the best estimation of RUL for the motor accelerated degradation experiment was 5 7% of the average lifetime of the motors The primary contributions of this research includes a method to construct a prognostic parameter from fault codes alone the integration of degradation information from fault codes into an existing prognostic parameter the use of topic models in reliability analysis of fault codes and a software suite that performs these functions on generic data sets
