Properties of Matter

QUESTIONS

Are you able to distinguish, based on the questions in school

- Why are solids, liquids and gases grouped together?
- Why are substances and mixtures classified together?

What Are Physical Properties?

Start with the solids in the diagram below as shown in a well-organised manner to find various properties.

If physical properties of substances are observed without changing the identity of the substance, these are physical properties of an object or matter. For example, you can identify an object's colour, shape, size, or weight. In general, the properties of an object are determined by the particles of the substance. The colour depends on  $\lambda$ .

Many of the physical properties of materials that make up objects can be measured. These properties include density, hardness, magnetism, and the ability to conduct heat and electricity.

Some physical properties depend on how much of a material you have. In other words, a large amount of a material may have different properties from a smaller amount of the material. Other physical properties do not depend on how much of the material you have. They show that no matter how large or small a sample of material is, the particular property is always the same.

LEARNING OBJECTIVE

Identify, as given, the materials or objects having characteristic properties associated with substances and mixtures based on their physical properties.

LEARNING OBJECTIVE

Identify and draw proper solid, liquid and gas particles shown in diagrams.
